SERGEANT'S WILL

Armenian Bishop Given $90,000

A retired master sergeant at Fort Baker who reportedly had $50,000 cash in his room when he died July 27, left his estimated $90,000 estate to Armenian orphans, his will disclosed today.

The information about Vartivos Tatosian, an elderly, semi-recluse, came to light when filing of a petition for probate of the will in Marin Superior Court by Wells Fargo Bank, executor of his estate.

It declares he was a bachelor with no known survivors, and left the estate to the Bishop of the Orthodox Catholic Church, Capitol of Armenia, Republic of Soviet Union, "for the use and benefit of all poor and orphaned Armenian children of his diocese."

If this is impossible, the Sept. 5, 1963 will states, the estate should instead go to orphan's under the guidance of St. John Armenian Apostolic Church in San Francisco.

Jay R. Martin, San Francisco attorney who filed the petition, said he knew little of Tatosian's life, but he had lived at Fort Baker since retirement and died at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

He said the large amount of cash was found among Tatosian's belongings at Fort Baker, and the remainder of the estate is elsewhere. A military funeral was given Tatosian, he added.

Road Crash Kills Three Marinites

Visiting Relative Also Dies

Three members of a Kentfield family were among four persons killed yesterday in a grinding head-on collision with a truck on "Blood Alley," a dangerous stretch of Highway 101 in southern Monterey County.

Killed instantly were Robert Long, 38, of 435 Palm Avenue, his wife Katherine, 30, their 9-month-old son Christopher, and Mrs. Long's mother, Mrs. Harben Daniels, 57, of Savannah, Ga.

TWO OTHERS

The Long's other two children, Dawson, 5, and Robert, 2, were in critical condition today at Mee Memorial Hospital in King City.

The panel truck driver, James Allan Slud, 20, of San Diego, was also in critical condition. His two passengers Daniel L. Remley, 21, and Ronald Greg Myers, 18, also of San Diego, were reported in serious condition.

The accident occurred when Long's northbound car crossed the center line of the two-lane San Ardo bridge over the Salinas River, smashing into Slud's truck, according to the California Highway Patrol.

ABRUPT CURVE

The highway rounds a hill in an abrupt curve as it approaches the narrow bridge.

A witness, Richard Wiley, told the California Highway Patrol that Long's car had passed his about 50 feet before entering the bridge. Wiley said Long remained in the southbound lane even though he could have pulled back into the northbound lane.

Patrol officers theorized Long thought he was still on the four-lane freeway, which ends less than a mile south of the bridge.

A Kentfield neighbor said the Long family had been on vacation about 10 days. She said Long, an electrical contractor, had lived at the Palm Avenue address with his family about two years.

The accident brought Monterey County's traffic toll for 1967 to 76, many of them on that busy two-lane section of Highway 101.

High Stakes, LSD Linked To Killing

By ALAN JONES

The sleeping bag murder of Negro hippie William E. Thomas was firmly linked to large-scale LSD traffic today by Marin County Undersheriff Sidney Stinson.

Stinson confirmed earlier rumors that Thomas, whose shot and stabbed body was found Sunday trussed in a sleeping bag and dumped over a Point Reyes cliff, was driven to Sausalito Thursday to make a major buy of pure lysergic acid.

The acid is manufactured overseas, Stinson said, and then diluted for individual doses of LSD.

Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos said Thomas was a known "big pusher" of LSD in San Francisco, and was carrying approximately $48,000 when driven to Marin Thursday by a Haight-Ashbury friend. There was $15 on his body.

Marin authorities have talked to the man who drove Thomas to Sausalito, but withheld his name. Stinson said Thomas spotted two men he was to contact for the drug buy near the Ark at Waldo Point and told the driver "Get lost, I don't need you."

The two men were white, Stinson said. He punctured a theory that another Negro hippie known as "New York Joe" was involved in the Thomas case. Neither Marin nor San Francisco authorities are looking for Joe, who was described by a San Francisco paper as setting up big drug deals for Thomas and John Kent Carter, another known LSD dealer.

Carter was stabbed to death Aug. 1 and his body was found Thursday in his San Francisco apartment, right arm severed and missing. Sausalitan Eric Frank Dahlstrom, 23, is being held for Carter's murder.

Stinson also shot down an announcement yesterday by San Francisco attorney Patrick Hallinan that Thomas and Dahlstrom had been seen together Wednesday on a ranch near the place Thomas's body was found.

Dahlstrom's movements for the time are known, Stinson said, and he was not near the area.

Dahlstrom did go on Monday, July 31, to the Slide ranch 30 miles down the coast from Point Reyes, where he kept a motorcycle.

He was "acting goofy," Stinson said, and the tenant, Jo-Ann Buryn, had Lovell Mitchell, an elderly Negro friend from San Francisco, chase him off the ranch.

Welfare Costs Reopen Supervisor-Jury Gap

By DAVID DIETZ

Uneasy relations between the Marin County Grand Jury and the Board of Supervisors showed again yesterday as a result of a board inquiry into welfare costs.

Two supervisors and two grand jurors shut themselves in a Civic Center office to air differences arising from recent jury investigations into county government. Emerging after a half-hour, all agreed to try to smooth tensions.

HANDLING COSTS

The meeting came after the supervisors, on the request of Chairman Thomas T. Storer, asked Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella to find means to reduce the time and expense needed to prepare general relief cases for the board's approval of the grants.

Betty L. Presley, director of the Department of Public Social Services, reported in a letter to Storer that each case which went to the supervisors in a recent month cost an average of $27.65 and over six hours to draw up.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen suspected "inefficiency somewhere," and colleague John F. McInnis wondered whether relief payments themselves could be justified with such preparation.

POLICY CHANGE?

When it was suggested that the board tread lightly in the face of grand jury scrutiny of welfare operations, Supervisor Peter H. Behr said this should "not affect our duty" or "act to change our policy." After a pause, he added: "This does not mean I don't have reasonable respect for the grand jury."

"Why just reasonable (respect)?" Richard J. Oesterman, chairman of the grand jury welfare committee, inquired flatly from the audience.

"Should I have said unreasonable?" Behr replied, then coldly, "I don't want to get in a dialogue with you, sir."

DOOR CLOSED

At the close of the board session, Clifford S. Lund of San Rafael, grand jury foreman, and Fred R. Montegani, chairman of the jury's special assignments committee, approached Storer outside the office of Administrator Alan Bruce and complained about Behr's remarks. Noticing a reporter nearby, the three entered a secretary's office and closed the door.

Behr, informed of the meeting, hurriedly entered the office and a brisk exchange followed for a short time. The group was overheard to make assurances of better relations, and Behr said as he came out: "I promise to behave myself from now on."

"This was a little personal

Quake In Denver Does Minor Harm

DENVER (UPI)—An earthquake rocked the Denver metropolitan area early today, damaging homes, moving refrigerator and cracking driveways as far away as Golden, Colo., some 15 miles west of Denver.

There was no report of injuries or serious damage but authorities said the quake was felt as far away as Sterling, Colo., some 135 miles northeast of Denver.

The quake, unofficially measured at 5.5 on the Richter scale, was twice as severe and much more widespread than any that has hit the state in recent history.

Cong Swarm Copter Assault; Three Down

SAIGON (UPI)—U.S. Air Cavalrymen swarmed into the Central Highlands in a helicopter-borne assault today and landed in the midst of two well-entrenched North Vietnamese companies. Heavy fighting was raging hours later and three helicopters were shot down.

Nine miles east of Saigon an RF101 Voodoo jet on a reconnaissance mission of suspected Viet Cong positions collided in flight with an HU1B helicopter. The Voodoo pilot parachuted but the three-man crew of the helicopter was killed.

In a series of sharp battles in the northern jungles of South Vietnam, American and Allied forces killed 229 Communists with only light losses. In one engagement U.S. 4th Infantry Division men killed 65 guerrillas in a 10-hour rice paddy swamp yesterday, losing one man.

The Central Highlands Air Cavalry assault came about 320 miles north of Saigon and inland from the coastal city of Duc Pho. The cavalrymen hit the Red position in the Rae River Valley and ran into heavy fire from small arms, automatic weapons, mortars and 57 millimeter recoilless rifles.

U.S. military officials estimated Communist strength in the battle at 200 to 250 men. Only two American companies were involved at first (about 400 men) but they quickly called for reinforcements to aid the bloody assault.

There was no immediate word of casualties in the fighting or in the helicopter crashes.

U.S. jets flashed in and hit the Communist positions with bombs, napalm and rockets as additional helicopters flew in American reinforcements. A spokesman said the battle was still underway at nightfall.

The helicopter-jet crash occurred in what a spokesman described as a "real deep valley" east of Saigon. A pilot who saw the crash said he had seen the two aircraft "real close together" only five minutes or so before the crash.

South Vietnames civilian militiamen guided by U.S. Army advisors grappled with Communist bands in a dozen fights yesterday and killed 140 Viet Cong. Six Americans were wounded and the South Vietnamese suffered "light" losses.

U.S. Marine scouts, hunting down 700 Communists who escaped en masse July 15 from a South Vietnamese jail, yesterday spotted one band 18 miles from the prison camp.

In the air war, U.S. jets continued their heavy pressure against North Vietnam yesterday. Spokesman said the Americans flew 166 missions, striking rail yards and bridges near the capital of Hanoi.

Writing in the magazine Christianity Today, Hoover said "the New Left was a new kind of conspiracy in our country." Communists, he said, have "deeply imbedded" themselves in the movement, but have not been able to dominate it.

The danger, Hoover wrote, is "that a disciplined, experienced revolutionary organization like the Communist party will be able to reach into the variegated, at times almost chaotic, New Left movement, recruit young people, and then train them into revolutionary cadres."

$27,000 Fire Hits Home In Mill Valley

Fire of undetermined origin flared through the three-story Mill Valley home of Florence Z. Miner late last night, gutting six of the nine rooms.

Fire Capt. Henry Pierrioz said today he is investigating the possible cause. The fire, which he estimates caused $27,000 to $30,000 damage to the structure and belongings, was believed to have started in a downstairs bedroom.

Miss Miner, a retired Army major, said she was watching television in her living room at about 11:38 p.m. Suddenly, Humphrey, her cat who was sitting on Miss Miner's lap, leaped off and Miss Miner noticed the whole front of her house on fire.

Flames badly damaged all but a three-room wing of the house at 258 Hillside Avenue and wing which was saved was damaged by smoke.

Fifteen firemen fought the blaze which was under control in 20 minutes, Pierrioz reported. No one was injured.

Miss Miner stayed the remainder of the night with her neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thomson of 266 Hillside Avenue. She said she has not seen her cat since the fire.

Ex-Justice Clark Ailing, Flown Home

BANGKOK (UPI) — Retired Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark has been evacuated by air to the United States with a case of severe infectious hepatitis, the U.S. embassy said today.

Fund Shortages Mean Plan Delay For Auditorium

Marin County Supervisors looked in vain yesterday for funds to complete the proposed $2.8 million veterans memorial auditorium and fair building at the Civic Center.

Two main possibilities were open to the supervisors after nearly three hours of discussion: An $800,000 bond issue, to include financing of about $375,000 in site development work; a hope for private donations, which Administrator Alan Bruce considered possible.

The supervisors asked a week's delay in accepting the building's final plans and advertising for bids so these points can be considered further.

Initial construction costing $2,059,000 will include only 900 of the building's 2,100 seats and basic equipment. The current project budget is only $2,075,000.

Supervisors, raising the possibility of bonds to complete the auditorium, decided to await more information from Bruce before acting.

Congressman Denies Wrong As Gift Bared

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Thaddeus J. Dulski, D-N.Y., banked the $11,000 profit from a testimonial dinner in his honor last September, the Wall Street Journal said today.

The newspaper said the 400 guests at the $50-a-plate dinner in Dulski's home city, Buffalo, included leaders of postal unions, lobbyists and big volume mailers.

At the time, Dulski was third-ranking Democrat of the 15 on the House Post Office Committee, and he became chairman last January, the newspaper said.

Concerning the $11,000 dinner proceeds, the newspaper quoted Dulski as saying:

"I took the money. At the time I thought it was honorable... I probably made a mistake. But on my father's grave I swear I've done nothing wrong. I have not been swayed. And remember, I wasn't chairman then. If the people elect me again, I promise I'll never let anybody throw me another dinner."

Dulski said that, unlike a series of testimonials for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., the publicity for his dinner didn't convey any impression that its purpose was to collect campaign funds.

On the contrary, the newspaper quoted him as saying, "invi-

Cubans Capture Armed Invaders

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban security forces intercepted an armed landing party on the north coast of Pinar del Rio Province Sunday, Havana Radio said today. Two members of the invading group were captured, but two escaped in their boats.

"The armed group was obeying direct orders from the CIA and left from the United States to carry out CIA missions in Cuba," the radio said.

The captives, the radio said, will be put on display before delegates attending the Latin American conference of leftist revolutionaries in Havana.

Ford Critical Of Bombing Bans

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford opposes sending more troops to South Vietnam unless President Johnson allows air attacks on unscathed military and strategic civilian targets in North Vietnam.

Ford

The Michigan Republican, charging Johnson's administration has pulled "our air power punch," said two-thirds of the military targets in North Vietnam and high proportions of its power plants, roads and petroleum storage areas have been spared air attack.

The White House declined comment on Ford's statements, contained in a House speech.

And at a news conference serveral hours before Ford spoke, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the United States hasn't ruled out ceasing its bombing of the North.

Son Accused Of Mercy Killing

CHICAGO (UPI) — Death and pain cast a long shadow in the lives of Mrs. Alice Waskib, 52, her husband and two sons.

Waskib

Yesterday Mrs. Waskib, a leukemia victim who, a hospital spokesman said was incurably ill, was shot to death while she was lying in the intensive care ward at Wesley Memorial Hospital.

"The boy loved his mother very much," said the woman's husband, Daniel, a 52-year-old insurance salesman.

As he stood in the hallway, he said he saw his son walk calmly out of the room and approach him.

"I shot her," the boy said. "She's out of her misery now. I shot her."

Libya, U.S. Talk About Base Removal

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Libya and the United States today began negotiations on the early shutdown of the sprawling U.S. Air Force base at Wheelus, last American air base in the Arab world and training site for U.S. pilots assigned to Europe.

Israeli military officials said they uncovered and smashed a Bethlehem-based Arab terrorist ring bent on sabotage in Israeli-occupied areas of Jordan. Thousands of Israeli tourists streamed into old Jerusalem where striking Arab shopkeepers were back in business.

TITO AWAITED

COMPROMISE DENIED

The paper in effect denied earlier reports from outside Egypt that Tito was bringing Nasser a compromise solution to the Middle East crisis.

Israeli officials said yesterday more than 30 Arab terrorists linked to the El Fatah sabotage organization were arrested after an Israeli officer recognized one of their leaders.

The officials said the Arabs admitted they planned sabotage inside Israeli and in Israeli-occupied territory.

ARAB UNREST

In Jerusalem, the Israeli government was reported considering restoration of military rule over conquered Arab lands to prevent growing unrest from burgeoning.

The potential threat was underlined by Monday's Arab general strike in Israeli-held old Jerusalem.

Libya requested six weeks ago that all foreign military bases on Libyan soil be evacuated as soon as possible.

Mississippi Demos Face Runoff; Negroes Gain Primary Victories

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—State Treasurer William Winter and veteran Rep. John Bell Williams appeared headed today for a runoff battle for the governorship of Mississippi after completely outdistancing the five other candidates with almost half the vote counted from yesterday's Democratic primary.

Mississippi Negroes scored their biggest victories since Reconstruction days. More than 50 Negroes ran for local and county offices throughout the state and several triumphed over white opponents.

WILLIAM WINTER
Leads state race

BARNETT TRAILS

In the governor's race, former Gov. Ross Barnett, 69, whose efforts to block integration of the University of Mississippi in 1962 made him a national figure, trailed badly and was out of contention. He had campaigned vigorously.

With 1,100 of 2,124 precincts reporting, Winter had 96,061 votes, Williams 90,262 and country music singer James "Little Jimmy" Swan 49,604. Swan had promised free segregated private schools if elected, and it was believed he cut deeply into Barnett's expected vote.

OTHER RESULTS

Barnett was running fourth, with 31,120 votes, and Dist. Atty. William Waller of Jackson fifth with 27,229. The other two candidates, Vernon Brown and C.L. McKinley, received only a token vote.

The Negro victories came in counties where their race predominates. In Claiborne County, Calvin Williams, a Negro, received enough votes to gain the runoff for sheriff. In the same county, Negroes won Democratic nominations for chancery clerk, justice of the peace, constable, and county supervisor. They have no Republican opposition.

NEGRO WINNERS

In Adams County, the Rev. W. S. Scott, a Negro minister, won the nomination for justice of the peace, beating three white men. Sandy Nealy, another Negro, won the nomination for Dist. 4 constable. Neither has GOP opposition.

Although Negroes turned out in record numbers generally, there was no way of telling at this time how many of the estimated 185,000 on the rolls actually voted.

The gubernatorial campaign was largely personal from the outset, with no important issues dividing the top candidates. All campaigned as segregationists opposed to what Mississippians call encroachments by the federal government on the rights of the state.

The Democratic nominee for governor will face Republican Rubel Phillips in the November general election. Phillips, the only Republican seeking a state level office, ran a strong race four years ago as the GOP candidate for governor.

A unique campaign for lieutenant governor spiced the voting. Gov. Paul B. Johnson, barred by law from succeeding himself, defied tradition by seeking the No. 2 office against five opponents. He was among the leaders from the start.

Largest Florida City If Voted

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — City of Jacksonville and Duval county voters yesterday overwhelmingly approved consolidating their two local governments.

The new Jacksonville, approved 52,585 to 28,872, will become Florida's largest city when the charter goes into effect Oct. 1, 1968.

The addition of some 300,000 residents from suburban areas affected by the vote, will boost the city's population to more than 450,000.

Anticrime Bill Turned Into Rioting Curb

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republicans and Southern Democrats have turned President Johnson's key anticrime bill into a riot suppression measure, handing the administration one of its worst legislative defeats of the session.

STATE CONTROLS

The coalition overwhelmed the House Democratic leadership yesterday and forced revisions to put control of the $75 million program in the hands of state governors and give the "highest priority" to quelling and preventing riots.

The bill would authorize a one-year start on improving local police forces across the nation, and the administration had hoped to maintain a national focus in the program and keep it free of racial overtones.

But in a key amendment adopted 256 to 147, the coalition virtually stripped the U.S. attorney general of control in administering the bill's wide ranging provisions for the modernization of the nation's police forces.

CHANCE IN SENATE

The amended measure was passed on a vote of 377 to 23, with 204 Democrats and 173 Republicans voting for it and 22 Democrats and one Republican voting against it.

Johnson could still hope for a comeback in the Senate, which has yet to consider the bill. But the same disgust with rioting and desire for local control of crime fighting that motivated the House yesterday is almost as evident there.

WAY TO BEAT THE TRAFFIC

John Brush of Cincinnati, with his wife at the wheel of their car, stands on his "automaran" after they motored to Montreal and docked today in the marina at Expo 67. tations and publicity made it abundantly clear that it was intended solely as a personal testimonial to Mrs. Dulski and myself."

"We gladly accepted the money to help defray the extra personal burdens a congressman must meet as related to elected public office for which reimbursement is not available. In my 8½ years in Congress this was the only dinner on our behalf. Mrs. Dulski and I felt it was entirely in keeping with the accepted practices of American political life." Dodd was censured by the Senate, not for banking testimonial receipts but for giving the impression that the funds were being collected for campaign use.

Dulski said contributors to his dinner weren't told specifically that he intended to bank the receipts, and he conceded that many of the contributors had a stake in postal legislation.

thing that I thought the chairman (Storer) and I should discuss," Lund said of the meeting. He predicted better ties between the jury and supervisors in the future.

Relations first chilled in March when the jury criticized the board for its handling of the gift of Kent Island in Bolinas Lagooon. At that time, Behr and Storer accused the jury of playing politics.

In June, Storer again criticized the jury when it made front page news by indicting county welfare chiselers. He called the action "routine."

Walkout At Phone Office Still Argued

Cause of the two-hour wildcat walkout of communications workers last Monday night at the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph main office in San Rafael is still being argued today by workers and company officials.

But the talk is behind closed doors and neither management nor union officials would discuss the strike, or grievances that led to it, or a possible settlement.

Members of Communications Workers of America, Local 9404 in San Rafael, reportedly started the brief strike to protest "harassment of union members and illegal monitoring of private phone calls," according to a union spokesman.

A company spokesman, however, said the dispute was thought to be over partitioning of space in the plant services department.

Telephone callers to the union local hear a recorded message that the walkout at the H Street office is halted and "at this time there are no details on the settlement."

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Protection Of Students

Back to school for all youngsters from 6 to 16 unless exempted! California aims to give as much education as it can to those willing and able to learn.

But to protect other students, a local school board can exclude or expel unruly pupils. Under state law, in most cases the student has a right to a hearing and possibly a right to appeal his case.

Usually the board action is based on the student's school conduct such as disobedience, profanity, assault on students or teachers, destruction of school property or smoking on school grounds. But the school board can also discipline, expel, or exclude a student for doing things outside of school.

Thus in one case, one student would beat up other children on the way to and from school. Another student harassed the teacher in her private home on weekends. In both cases the court ruled that the school could suspend or expel the student for such misconduct.

Other activities may be connected with the school. A student can be disciplined for getting drunk while out of town on a school picnic, band concert, or athletic contest. All the reasons for protecting the welfare or the other students in the school would apply to their protection outside of school.

Usually there has to be some pattern of misbehavior to justify excluding a student where the misconduct did not occur at school or was not connected with it. Perhaps one indiscreet act would not be sufficient. The student's attitude is important. Expulsion or exclusion is usually limited to those cases where other means to correct the misconduct have failed.

Pupils with diseases that might be communicated to others may be excluded. The law prohibits students in elementary and secondary schools from membership in secret clubs, fraternities, and sororities.

Marijuana Possession Suspected

Two teen-agers from Oakland were taken to Marin Juvenile Hall yesterday on charges of marijuana possession after San Rafael police found two matchboxes of suspected weed near their car.

Police said the two, a 15-year-old boy, and 13-year-old girl, were "holding" the marijuana for two older youths in the car. One, Albert Donel Prewitt, 18, of Oakland, was held at county jail for investigation of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Police investigated after a woman on Canal Street complained at 8:30 a.m. of a group of Negro youths "acting suspicious" in the apartment area.

Patrolman Phillip D. Green found the youths in a car near 520 Canal Street. As he approached, he reported, the two juveniles dropped matchboxes and cigarette papers into the grass. The boxes held "green vegetable matter" believed to be marijuana.

Also found in the car was a five-gallon gasoline can, a transistor radio, and a butcher knife.

Another Oakland juvenile in the group, a 14-year-old boy, was arrested yesterday afternoon in the same general area for the theft of a sweatshirt in a truck parked at Country Club Bowl. He was also taken to juvenile hall.

the case at all," Stinson said.

The coroner's office has not pinpointed the time of Thomas's death, but Stinson said it was "Thursday or Friday."

Mountanos yesterday talked to several acquaintances of Thomas in attempts to reach contacts he may have had in the LSD world, but reported nothing concrete from the interviews.

Mountanos said the men Thomas met were not from Marin. He said "we have an idea" who they two are, but did not have their names. He said the acid buy was set up here where the participants were less well known.

Neither the sleeping bag nor the rope bound around it have been traced, Stinson said.

Savings Go Up In Flames

Three Novato boys, 17 and 17, saved their money for a big jag. They bought a kilo fo marijuana valued at about $64. So they had to hide it.

Where would be a better place than in the unused trash burner stove during the hot summer weather?

All went well until the father of one of the boys decided to start a fire to get rid of some trash on a cool morning. Up went the marijuana in smoke — but not the kind they could inhale, according to Raymond Currier, juvenile police

Larkspur Rec Session Slated For Tonight

The week's meeting of the Larkspur Park and Recreation Commission was incorrectly announced as scheduled for last night because of a typographical error on the city agenda.

The meeting is scheduled for today at 8 p.m. at City Hall, to consider establishing hiking trails in Larkspur, but at noon there was some doubt as to whether a quorum would be present for the meeting.

Vietnam-Summer Group Is Denied Sausalito Hall

There will be no meetings of the Vietnam-Summer Marin organization in the Sausalito City Hall because use of the chambers should be limited to Sausalito-based groups, City Mgr. George M. Patterson said today.

Patterson said he is not denying use of the hall on basis of subject matter.

Vietnam-Summer Marin, with offices in San Rafael, requested permission for use of the hall late this month to discuss the new draft law and for a second meeting in September on "the war and your taxes." A spokesman said today the group will continue to try to find a hall in Sausalito.

Patterson said that if use were granted to Vietnam-Summer Marin, the city might be beseiged with requests from other county groups.

Vietnam-Summer Marin held a meeting in Mill Valley city council chambers one week ago and the city council agreed Monday to discuss use of the hall for outside groups at their Aug. 21 meeting.

Meetings on the new draft law have been scheduled for Aug. 17 at the Civic Center, Aug. 21 at the Novato Community House and Aug. 24 at Reed School auditorium, Tiburon, all at 8 p.m. Also scheduled are meetings on "the war and your taxes," on Aug. 23 in Mill Valley City Hall and Aug. 28 at the Civic Center, each at 8 p.m.

Cosa Nostra Leader Linked With Murder

BOSTON (AP) — Gennaro J. Agniulo, 47, of Medford, identified in U.S. Senate committee testimony in 1963 as the New England chief of Cosa Nostra, was arrested today on an indictment charging him with being an accessory before the fact of murder and conspiracy to murder.

Angiulo, looking like a successful businessman in a dark business suit, white shirt and blue-black striped tie, arrived at the office of Suffolk County Dist. Atty. Garrett J. Byrne shortly after 9:30 a.m. He was accompanied by his attorney, Joseph Balliro.

A Suffolk County grand jury last night indicted Angiulo and three other men on charges related to the slaying of Rocco DiSeglio, 26, a former Newton boxer whose body was found in a car in a wooded section of Topsfield, north of Boston, in June 1966.

Marin City Youths To Study Watts

At least that is the lesson that officials of the Tamalpais Union High School District want the nineteen teen-agers to learn as they attend the second annual Watts festival.

The festival includes music and athletic events, exhibits of Negro work in the community and is held to commemorate the riots in the area two years ago.

Students will stay in private homes in Watts, talk to residents, go to Disneyland and decide on other places they want to see in Los Angeles. The trip is being financed by the school district, putting up $525 and furnishing transportation, by donations from businesses and individuals and by students' money.

On the way to Watts, the students will stop in Lamont, Kern County, to hear from the Negro leader elected by striking farm workers, 85 per cent of whom are of Mexican derivation. Students are expected to hear the other side from an official of the Di Giorgio Corp. against which workers are striking.

On the way back on Monday, students will stop in Delano for lunch at a Lutheran church, where they may get another view of a farm strike.

The object of the Watts visit and stops on the way is to show how leadership can be organized within a community without resort to violence, leaders of the tour explained.

Sleepy Hollow Boys Admit Setting Fire

Three Sleepy Hollow boys, 6, 8, and 10 years old, deliberately set a fire that burned 15 acres of grass and brush behind Martling Road in Sleepy Hollow yesterday at 2:31 p.m., according to San Anselmo firemen.

The fire burned for five hours, but caused no damage. Fire Chief Frank Sousa said the boys admitted to their mother that they had started the fire.

Condition Good

Frank Franulic, 22, of 265 Circle Drive, Tiburon, was reported in good condition and recovering today at Marin General hospital where he was admitted July 18 with multiple burns, suffered when a flamable liquid exploded as he lighted a flaming dessert at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant where he is a waiter.

Mites are found throughout the world.

Car Owner Is Saddled With Increasing Taxes

The rapid development of the automobile in the 1920s as a mode of personal transportation was due in large part to favorable economic factors.

At the same time that Henry Ford was introducing mass production to bring costs down to undreamed-of lows, we had almost a complete absence of taxation on private automobiles and their use.

One of the reasons the United States led the world in the development and use of personal automobiles was this combination of factors.

In Europe, where technical development of the automobile paralleled and, in some instances, surpassed ours, heavy fuel and license fees and other levies combined to price the automobile beyond the reach of even middle class Europeans.

But today, the private car owner in the U. S. no longer gets a "free ride." California charges auto owners an "in lieu" property tax of $60 a year on a $3,000 car. This amounts to 2 per cent of the market value of his auto.

By comparison, the average owner of a piece of California real estate valued at $3,000 pays about $57 per year in property tax.

In addition, new measures are being proposed to further saddle the car owner with taxes. Two such bills were introduced this year. One, AB-1290, called for a 25 per cent increase in the license fee, and the other, AB-2092, provided for state and local sales tax on gasoline, in addition to gasoline taxes already imposed.

The purpose of these measures was to subsidize mass transit programs in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Conceivably, this mounting tax load may curtail the use of the private automobile. Some may argue that this would be a healthy trend in that it would unclog our highways and force more people to use mass transit.

But if this is to occur, it should be with the understanding and knowledge of the motoring public and not come as a surprise without the knowing consent of the car owner.

The ever-mounting tax load on the motorist is lamentable. Even worse is the attempt to force every car owner in the state to subsidize, unwittingly, mass transit needs of two metropolitan centers.

Termite Perfume

As most Marinites know, getting rid of termites is an expensive affair. It usually involves breaking the contact between the nest in the ground and the wood on which they feed. Frequently, this involves costly construction.

Now, however, the science of termite control is on the verge of a breakthrough. An Australian scientist has extracted less than an ounce of scent from 25 million termites, which they follow avidly. Now to synthesize it, and will have them coming out of the woodwork. Literally.

The Silence Of The Night

Night is not completely silent anywhere there is civilization. There are the humming of refrigerators and freezers, the kicking on and off of thermostatically controlled gas furnaces, the hopefully distant barking of a dog, the bumping of a moth against the window pane, the faint rumble of highway noise.

But Marin's nights are for the most part comparatively quiet. Is there any pleasure quite like reading into the silent hours of the night?

Reagan Uses Veto To Strike Down Teacher Retirement Plan

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has vetoed SB 539, known as the ARCOSS bill, which would have obligated taxpayers of California an estimated $700 to $800 million to pick up the tab for retirement of teachers from out-of-state.

The measure provided that California give teachers in its public schools retirement credit for half of their out-of-state teaching experience up to a maximumm of 10 years.

The bill was one of the most heavily lobbied at this session of the Legislature, which is one reason it managed to pass both houses. It was introduced by Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka.

OUT-OF-STATE teachers formed an organization known as the Association for Retirement Credit Of Out Of State Service some years ago.

The bill has been before the Legislature for several sessions, and until this year, it never passed both houses.

Aside from the measure's demerits and ultimate unnecessary drain on the taxpayers of California, there is a story as to why it managed to get a passing vote in the Senate and Assembly this year.

In past years, the bill was an Assembly measure, and passed that house on the theory that the Senate would kill it anyhow, which is what actually happened in previous tries.

THIS YEAR, however, it was decided to start the measure in the Senate. With the aid of some potent lobbying activity, the bill cleared the Senate.

Then it was decided to put Gov. Reagan on the spot, by sending the bill down to him, thereby putting the blame on the governor if he failed to sign the measure, which he did.

While the California Teachers Association on the surface is in favor of the measure, even some officials of that powerful organization think the measure is out of line with the precepts of good government.

IT IS FAIRLY certain that the veto of the measure will not have political repercussions as far as the governor is concerned, for the simple reason that his administration is dedicated to lightening the load on the taxpayers, rather than increasing it in an unnecessary manner, which the ARCOSS measure apparantly would do.

Even if the bill had any merit, this would not be the year for a raid on the taxpayers which would eventually cost them between $700 and $800 million annually. Already, the Legislature has voted nearly a billion dollar increase in taxes. Already, most cities and counties of California have announced tax increases in local rates. And on top of that, 10 per cent surtax on incomes for federal purposes threatens the taxpayer.

Behr's Plan Best Hope For Transit

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Of all the people involved in determining what a balanced transportation system for Marin means, the one with the best balanced mind must be Supervisor Behr. He can see that Marin is not in a financial position to support rail rapid transit, but that we do need a public rapid transit system — one that has a substantial edge over the private passenger automobile. This is why his consistent support of exclusive bus lanes, including exclusive lanes on the bridge second deck, continues to make good sense. Only with such a system will we be able to get people out of their cars.

Maybe the ultimate answer is rail rapid transit, but if so, it's not within our grasp any time soon, and soon is very important. Exclusive bus lanes must be planned to allow for eventual conversion to rails, but that conversion may be far off. I wouldn't be averse to a bridge second deck devoted to buses only. Anything that can be done to encourage a thriving public transportation system is in everyone's best interest (1) to avoid further defacing of our countryside by roads, (2) to avoid defacement of San Francisco, (3) to avoid air pollution problems caused by an endless stream of slow-moving automobiles, and (4) to avoid the ultimate crushing financial burden incurred by building superhighways.

Mass transit systems have the inherent disadvantages of possible inconvenient origin and destination plus possible inconvenient scheduling. With buses, these disadvantages can be minimized, because they are small enough to carry people on a variety of routes and more frequently than rails. They are also much more flexible in where they can go.

I believe that Marin should start to acquire property for exclusive bus lanes. The NWP right-of-way would be an excellent starting point, despite the fact that it might not all be used because it traverses populated areas. Trades could be made. The important point here is to get started soon so as to minimize the dislocations which might be caused. Incidentally, the dislocations caused by a mass rapid transit system will be much less than the ones which would be caused by more highways.

Time For Riots By Middle Class?

Editor, Independent-Journal:

President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent surcharge throws another stunning blow at the already staggering taxpayer.

Debate will increase over the pros and cons of spending for the Vietnam war, or for massive city slum programs.

But is there any excuse whatsoever—in Marin, the nation's second wealthiest county—for pushing federal poverty programs into areas that neither need nor want them, such as San Geronimo Valley?

And that's just the beginning. San Rafael and Novato are the next targets.

Homeowners, prepare for a triple attack! Besides the Johnson surcharge, your local taxes will soar to support these new bureaucracies (state and county governments must each contribute 10 per cent of these programs). Your property values will sag when your community is declared a poverty zone.

Is it time for some middle-class riots?

Let Military Men Run War In Asia

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Is there any doubt that, if our military leaders were allowed to fulfill their professional mission, they would never resort to limited warfare? Or fight a war on the enemy's terms? Or waste our great naval and air power? Or tolerate a demilitarized zone which protects the enemy's homeland? Or allow the most strategic areas of the enemy's homeland to become immune under the senseless concession of privileged sanctuaries? Or keep calling time out for huddles and repairs, as if it were a football game?

Why then do we let civilians like Johnson, McNamara, and Rusk run the war? Why not let the military run the Vietnamese war, so that we can win it and bring our fighting men home?

The War Assets Administration discovered a surprising lack of interest and a shortage of prospective purchasers of Marinship Corp. shipyard parcels at Sausalito, with bidding confined entirely to the southeast corner of the yard.

By a vote of 6 to 1, voters of San Rafael and immediate suburban environs approved creation of a sanitation district to improve the community's sewer system and provide a sewage treatment plant.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

THE TOWN'S most notorious deadbeat suddenly appeared in Dentist Pullman's torture chamber and paid a long-overdue bill in full. "That last letter you sent me" he confessed admiringly, "would get money out of a stone. How did you ever dream it up?"

"I didn't" admitted Doc Pullman, hastily pocketing the unexpected check. "I just selected the best parts from letters my son sends me from college."

MURGATROYD BOPKIN was the kind of honest — and fearless — husband who confessed to his wife that a red-headed dancer in a nearby nightclub was making his heart go pitty-pat. The understanding wife demanded that he take her to inspect this new light of his life. So he did. "It's that gorgeous blonde third from the left," he told her proudly. "And see the little redhead next to her? That's our neighbor Sussman's girl."

The wife studied the two for a moment, then announced firmly, "I like ours better."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Will Congress, In Outrage, Forget Causes Of Racial Riots?

WASHINGTON — There is one overriding question before the country and the Congress today. What are we going to do about the riots?

Are we going to do everything adequate to repress the riots and nothing adequate to reduce the causes of the riots?

Are we going to regard the rioters — unintentionally of course — by failing to do what is needed to improve the conditions which make it easier for rioters to stimulate violence?

Are we going to allow our outrage to impel us to do what needs to be done to control violence but deter us from doing what needs to be done to cure the ills which breed violence?

THE ANSWERS to these questions will come primarily from Congress. How Congress responds to the crisis — whether it acts adequately to punish but inadequately to heal — will determine whether more of the worst will be encouraged or averted.

Those who want to act to heal and not just to repress are not in any way proposing to appease the rioters. In the wake of the riots, Congress should do nothing which should not have been done on its own merits before the riots.

IF THE POST-RIOTS Congress does not do better than the pre-riots Congress, we are in for trouble. Look at the record:

Congress approved the principle of rent assistance and has refused to appropraiate a single penny to carry it out.

Congress has not provided a cent for metropolitan development grants.

It slashed 75 per cent from urban research funds.

Two-thirds of the requested appropriation for urban technical assistance has been denied.

Open housing — no hearings even scheduled.

The war on poverty — it is fighting for its life and neither house has yet passed a bill even authorizing its continuation.

WHEN THEY ARE NOT unwisely tilting at each other, President Johnson and Governor Romney of Michigan are giving the nation the same wise advice.

Says the President: "This is no time for angry reaction. It is a time for action, starting with legislative action, to improve life in our cities."

Says the governor: "We have failed to recognize the urgency of eliminating social injustice and human discrimination . . .We must create genuine equality of opportunity in education, in employment, in housing."

NOTHING COULD be more harmful than for Congress to allow the riots to be used as an excuse to belabor, delay, and dilute the strengthened continuation of the war on poverty.

That's what its enemies, who never wanted it in the first place, are trying to do in attempting to smear it with exaggerated accusations that its employees have been inciting the riots. The fact is that out of the 6,733 persons arrested in connection with the riots in 27 cities, six were from among 12,128 paid poverty workers. Says Mayor Lindsay about the Neighborhood Youth Corps, mainly slum kids: "If you only recruit youngsters who never had a problem or never will have a problem, that is the road to failure."

Why do you suppose Governor Romney after the recent riots asked OEC Director Sargent Shriver to send 200 additional Vista volunteers to Detroit at once? Because where the action is the war on poverty is most needed. He began getting them the day he asked for them.

ALL OF THESE measures together are the touchstone of whether Congress is going to act punitively or positively in face of the riots.

The voice of outrage is rightly saying today: "We will not tolerate violence. We will not permit lawlessness."

In this area Congress will do all that is needed.

But the voice of outrage must also say: "We will not tolerate the conditions which produce violence and lawlessness."

In this area will Congress do all that is needed?

I think the conviction of most Americans is that we cannot safely do less.

Vietnam Depleting Combat Divisions

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — When the worried Joint Chiefs of Staff confer lately, their discussions eventually turn to their most pressing problem:

How can President Johnson's backing be obtained to end the alarming depletion of this country's strategic military reserves?

These are the combat-ready Army divisions based in the U.S. capable of immediate deployment overseas to handle new "Vietnams" or other brush-fire wars should they break out.

Since the American build-up of troops in South Vietnam began in 1965, the number of these divisions has dwindled from nine to four and one-half. And further withdrawls can be expected to meet Gen. William Westmoreland's urgent request for more troops for Vietnam.

IT WAS PRESIDENT Johnson's decision to use two of the strategic reserve's crack divisions in riot-torn Detroit that caused the joint chiefs to sound the alarm to Congress.

In private warnings to members of the House Armed Services Committee, the military chiefs pointed out that the use of the 82nd and 101st airborn divisions for riot-control duty left the strategic reserve at the lowest level since the early days of the Korean War.

Defense Secretary McNamara's policy of not letting the Army replace divisions sent to Vietnam, according to the Joint Chiefs of Staff, violates one of the oldest rules of military strategy. According to this rule, all divisions committed to battle from reserves must be replaced immediately for protection against other possible military moves by one's enemies.

UNDER THE PRESENT manpower restrictions imposed by McNamara, the Army is having trouble obtaining replacements for Vietnam under the one-year rotation plan, let alone trying to replace divisions taken from the strategic reserve.

For example, the number of troops in Vietnam at the end of July actually dropped 5,000 when the Army was able to replace immediately only 25,000 of the 30,000 returning to the U.S.

This "robbing of Peter to pay Paul" is one of the reasons why Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., set up a special House Armed Services subcommittee headed by Rep. Porter Hardy, D-Va., to investigate McNamara's defense policies. One of the chief jobs of Hardy's subcommittee will be to determine whether the U.S. had the necessary forces to cope with possible new dangers.

Future Of Hilarita Housing In Hands Of Tiburon Residents

The fate of Hilarita housing will have to be decided soon, if a plan is to be developed before 1970, when the Marin County Housing Authority is required by law to demolish the present structures.

In a recent meeting at Reed School, the authority gave its opinion that another low-rent housing development apparently was not desired by the citizens or city council of Tiburon. Chairman Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. said he wasn't sure they could "sell" the city on a moderate income housing plan, either.

This brought a Hilarita resident to his feet, Roland Hayes said, "The figures are staggering on the number of people who have survived because of Hilarita, some poor or disabled. I can't believe the people of Tiburon don't care about keeping low-rent housing there." Then he asked Ehrlich, "Is this just a way to get people out and keep them out?"

Ehrlich said the authority will be responsible to relocate tenants somewhere in the county.

If moderate income housing will run from $115 to $160 per month, some of us will have to revise our estimates of moderate incomes. Rent at Hilarita has been as low as $45 in the past few years. One resident said he now pays $56.

Hilarita has served Belvedere and Tiburon residents as temporary housing during emergencies, after fires, or while their own houses were being remodeled.

Tiburon City Councilman Gordon W. Strawbridge told the authority he had not supported public housing in the past because he felt "economic segregation is not the best thing for the community." he offered to back it at the council "if we can get over that hump."

Planning commissioners Joseph C. Marshall and Peter MacGowan also expressed interest in Hilarita. Marshall said he would) favor either low or moderate income housing and asked "how to get something started."

He learned from chairman Ehrlich that an election would have to be held to reinstate low-income, or public, housing.

MacGowan told the authority there might be more interest in low-income housing in Tiburon than that group realized. He also asked about the possibility of senior citizen housing at Hilarita. But director Donald O. Stutsman told him the balance of the property (about nine acres), not already promised to Reed School District, would be too steep and hilly for elderly residents. Ehrlich also felt senior citizen housing would be "unrealistic."

Commissioner Allen D. Littman, who had previously opposed Hilarita housing being zoned again for multiple use, suggested the authority find another site on the peninsula. When told the authority could not afford to buy another site, he suggested it swap the Hilarita site for another piece of land.

Littman, along with several other residents who own nearby property, has been concerned that the area would decrease in property value if another low or moderate income housing development were built.

Another group with an idea for Hilarita is the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission, which would like to see two acres developed into a city park.

ART BUCHWALD

Save The 'Burgers If Veep's In Town

(EDITOR'S NOTE: While Art Buchwald is taking a few days off, he has begged us to reprint some of his classics. This one, written in 1961, is absolutely true.)

PARIS — I almost had dinner with the vice president of the United States, Lyndon B. Johnson, and it was almost one of the greatest evenings I ever spent in Paris.

This is what happened. The Vice President and his wife had arrived to spend one day and night in Paris and had asked a very good friend of theirs, who also happens to be a very good friend of mine, if he would select a restaurant to give the dinner. My friend called me up and said, "How would you like to have dinner with the Vice President of the United States and his wife"

I SAID IT WOULD be nice.

"Well, I haven't cleared it with them yet, but I'm sure it will be all right. What restaurant should we dine at?"

"Why don't you reserve at Novy's? It's got White Russian music and a nice wild atmosphere."

"Good idea," he said.

"Where shall we meet?" I asked excitedly.

"At the ambassador's."

"What ambassador?" I asked.

"Haven't you been invited to the cocktail party the American ambassador is giving for the Vice-President?"

"No," I said.

"Well, I'll call the embassy and tell them you're going to have dinner with the Vice President and I'm sure they'll invite you."

"Gee, that's swell," I said.

I COULDN'T WAIT to telephone my wife and tell her. But she wasn't home and I told our maid, Danielle, to tell my wife as soon as she came in that instead of eating hamburgers, we were having dinner with the Vice President of the United States.

Then I went out to lunch and told everyone I met I couldn't have dinner with them that night because I was dining with the Lyndon Johnsons.

In the meantime my wife had come home and when Danielle told my wife about our dinner plans, she dashed out of the house and rushed off to Alexandre's, the famous Paris coiffeur, to get her hair done.

Alexandre's is a very fashionable place and you can't get in without an appointment. But when my wife explained she was going to have dinner with the Vice President of the United States, they threw a duchess out the window and gave my wife her chair.

MEANWHILE, back at the office, I was reading up on protocol and the great vice presidents of our country when the phone rang. It was my friend and he was so embarrassed he could hardly talk. It seems the Johnsons had insisted on a small dinner party, made up of just their friends, and he said he couldn't invite me.

"That's okay," I said, trying to keep my tears away from the mouthpiece. "Let's do it some other time."

"I'm terribly sorry," he said. "I should have asked them before I asked you."

FIVE MINUTES LATER my wife called up, delirously happy. "Hi," she said. "This is quite a day. One minute we're going to eat hamburgers at home and the next we're going out with the Vice President of the United States."

"Wait a minute, social climber!" I shouted. Then I explained what had happened.

"But what will I tell them the next time I go to Alexandre's?" she cried.

"You can fake it. They'll never know."

"What about Danielle? She's told everyone in the neighborhood. What can I tell her?"

Potted Plant Decor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Line a walk with flowering pot plants. It needn't be expensive if you use small size petunias or marigolds in three or four-inch clay pots, and give them added height by resting them on inverted clay pots to raise them to desired levels.

Marin Sea Scouts Set Sierra Trip

Twelve Marin Sea Scouts will move into a different element this weekend as they begin a 69-mile hike into the Sierra mountains.

Boys aged 15 through 17, nearly all from Tamalsea Sea Scout Ship 1 in Mill Valley, will begin the hike Saturday from a pack station near Independence, Inyo County. Also in the group will be boys from Sea Scout troops in San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax.

The hike will be led by Jan Keizer of Sausalito, first mate (that is, second in command) of the Mill Valley Sea Scout unit. It will include hiking up Mount Whitney, more than 14,000 feet high, depending on snow conditions, and crossing Forester's Pass, 13,186 feet, the second highest pass in the United States, Keizer said.

The hike will be over portions of the John Muir Trail and will cover areas in King Canyon and Seuoqia national parks. The boys will have no pack train for aid; they'll carry all their gear on their backs for the trip which will end Aug. 20.

Mildew is a fungus.

Poster Contest For Youngsters

The Mill Valley Association, an organization to publicize the Mill Valley Public Library, will hold a poster contest for artists 12 to 18 years of age, Evelyn Hannay, publicity chairman, said today.

Posters may be submitted to the library now. The contest will close Sept. 2. They are to be used to encourage people to donate books for a benefit book sale to be held at the Fall Arts Festival Oct. 14 and 15. Posters should be 18 by 20 inches or nine by 12 inches. A prize will be awarded for the top poster.

Note Find Blocks Jump Off Bridge

Officer Douglas A. Scott reported that 10:15 p.m. he saw a man park his car at Vista Point, leave a note and walk toward the bridge.

Finding the note, signed by Robert Gene Rutter, 37, of Daly City, which said his wife had left him and he had nothing left to live for, Officer Scott drove back to the bridge.

Rutter gave his occupation as a mechanic-bartender. He was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

Control Burning

The Sausalito Fire Department will be doing control burning along roadsides and in vacant lots through Friday as a fire prevention measure, Fire Chief Charles E. Masten said today.

CHP Foils Span Leap; Patrol Car Gets Hit

Two California Highway Patrol officers rushing to prevent a man from jumping off the Golden Gate Bridge this morning were involved in a two-car crash.

Officer Leland R. McGuire and Roger Alvin Withers answered a call at 2:15 a.m. from the bridge office that an unidentified witness had seen a man climb over the railing mid-span on the bridge.

Heading north one minute later, the officers saw the man by the rail. Officer Withers slowed the car to let McGuire get out and grab the man off the rail.

Then a northbound car diven by Kenneth William Kew, 41, of 46 Lower North Terrace, Tiburon, came along and crashed into the rear of the patrol car.

Kew had a scraped left knee but refused hospitalization, the Patrol reported. The thwarted bridge-jumper was identified as David Alexander Kozeken, 23, of San Francisco, a writer. He was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation.

Sausalitan Has Photos On Show

A series of photographs by Michael E. Bry of Sausalito is on exhibit through Sept. 4 at the Anchor Steam Beer Brewery, 541 Eighth Street, San Francisco.

The exhibit, entitled "To Be Somebody," consists of 24 photos taken in Europe, Cuba and the United States of "people trying to be individuals," Bry explained. The exhibit is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Show Scheduled

A Punch and Judy puppet show will be presented by Mrs. Greta Nelson of Larkspur at 2 p.m., tomorrow, at Langendord Playground on Woodward Avenue, Sausalito, Mrs. Eleanor Cruikshank, secretary of the sponsoring Sausalito Recreation Commission, said today. Admission is free.

Trustees Plan Third Bond Drive

Bolinas-Stinson School District trustees last night agreed to form a committee to figure out a way to pass a bond issue — the third try this year — for new construction.

A $275,000 bond measuere for construction of four new classrooms, repair of the old Bolinas School building and purchase of four added acres at Bolinas School was defeated March 21 and again June 20.

Board chairman Mrs. Alyce Thompson said each trustee is to select two or more persons to sit on a committee to attempt to work out a successful bond drive. No bond figure nor specific number of classrooms were decided upon last night. Trustees will discuss the subject again at 8 p.m., Aug. 22, at Stinson Beach School.

The board agreed to ask for bids, due at 5 p.m., Aug. 22, for the leasing of two buses. Trustee Roberta Shockey was absent.

COUNTY SERVICES NOT CHEAP FOR MARINITES

Taxpayers' Comparison Finds Many Department Costs High

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Many county services in Marin cost the taxpayer more than the same or similar services in comparable counties.

This is brought out by study of 65 pages of lengthy tables of figures in a bulletin on "California Counties Departmental Budgets" published by the California Taxpayers Association.

Comparing counties by tax rate is difficult. Some counties provide services which others do not; some have higher assessments making possible lower tax rates, and vice versa.

It is possible, however, to draw some interesting comparisons among the departmental budgets of similar counties.

Their populations as of July 1, 1966, estimated by the State Department of Finance, ranged from 247,000 for Santa Barbara down to 183,600 for Sonoma. Marin's population was estimated at 196,900.

Assessed valuation per capita also did not vary widely among the five counties. Here, Marin was high with $2,448, and Sonoma low with $2,030.

The tax requirement per capita, however, ranged more widely. Tulare's was highest at $57.58, and Monterey's lowest at $37.92. Marin's was $55.58, in third spot just below Sonoma's $56.66. Incidentally, this put Marin's tax requirement per capita 38th among California's 58 counties.

However, the Cal-Tax study figures show that Marin was either highest or second highest among the live comparable counties in cost per capita of 17 different county services. (All the figures are based on last year's budgets, those for the new fiscal year being too newly adopted.)

PLANNING —Marin's cost for county planning was $165.96 per 100 population, far highest of the five counties and seventh highest of all counties in the state. Monterey came closest in the group studied, at $112.86. Tulare was lowest at $60.23.

JUVENILE HALL — Marin's juvenile care cost $220.80 for every 100 people in the county, second highest in the state (only Contra Costa was higher, at $242.87). Among the five counties, second place Sonoma's cost was less than half as much at $105.74. Tulare's was lowest at $71.36.

PROBATION — Cost in Marin was $218.50 per 100 population, highest of the five. Sonoma was second at $198.84; Monterey, low at $125.71.

MENTAL HEALTH — Although there has been much complaint from some quarters that Marin did too little in the mental health field, its cost for this service on a per capita basis was ninth highest in the state and highest in the comparison group at $213.17 per 100 population. Santa Barbara, in second spot, spent less than half as much as 100 population — $103.18. Lowest was Tulare at $74.13.

Other categories in which Marin's cost per 100 people was highest in the group of five were:

ASSESSOR — Marin, $318.13; Sonoma, second, $232.73; Monterey, low, $169.76.

COMMUNICATIONS — Marin, $108.86; Monterey, second, $51.34; Sonoma, low, $8.54 (Santa Barbara's not separated in budget).

PROMOTION — Marin, $110.65; Sonoma, second, $90.22; Tulare, low, $17.55. (The promotion budget in Marin has been cut sharply for fiscal 1968.)

SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS — Marin, $66.65; Santa Barbara, $44.59; Tulare, $40.61; Monterey and Sonoma not given.

Marin was second highest in cost of administrative officer at $48.95, behind Monterey's $54.52. It was second also in cost of municipal and justice courts, clerk, sheriff, and county library.

Marin was right in the middle of the five counties in costs of county counsel, public health, and welfare administration.

It was next to the bottom in costs of district attorney, coroner, property management, recreation, and building inspection.

Its cost per 100 population was lowest among the five for superior court, agricultural commissioner, welfare, agricultural extension service, and hospitals (Marin has no county hospital).

Among costs in some counties for which Marin showed none were adoptions and refuse disposal.

Greeks Mete Terms

ATHENS (UPI)—A military court yesterday sentenced a lawyer to eight years in prison, an army private to a year and a tax collector to six months for "insulting the person of the king." A government spokesman also said 2,300 persons arrested after the military coup April 21 are still being held and will be released as soon as they sign loyalty oaths.

Motel Sale Plan Bodes Revisions

Ray J. Cosgrove, San Francisco real estate broker and developer, said he has taken over the management of Rancho Rafael at Ignacio preparatory to its purchase from Max Key.

Cosgrove said he is now living at the motel and expects to start serving lunches and dinners immediately. Food has not been served on a regular basis at Rancho Rafael in recent months.

Meanwhile, he said, a corporation is being organized to purchase the Rancho, to be known as Steve Allen, Inc. Steve Allen Jr., son of the television star, is associated in the venture, Cosgrove said. In addition to the present buildings and five acres of ground, Cosgrove said he is negotiating for an adjoining five acres on which he plans a commercial development of 20 stores.

He said he has also taken an option on 33 acres on Center Road, Novato, which he and Ralph Briggs, a Novato contractor, intend to develop into a retirement complex of 198 units.

In 1949, Cosgrove said, he was associated with Ed Strain in Greenfield Real Estate at 1 Greenfield Avenue, San Anselmo.

Senior Citizen Events Slated

Two events for senior citizens have been announced by the San Rafael Recreation and Park Department.

Square dance programs will be held 10 a.m. to 12 o'clock on Aug. 16 and Aug. 23 at the Community Recreation Center, Second and Brooks Street.

In September an overnight trip to Mendocino County, including a ride on the Skunk Railway, is planned for adults 50 years and older. Reservations are being taken now.

40 Strep Cases Reported In Marin

There were 40 cases of strep infection reported in Marin County for the week ending last Saturday, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, reported today. Of these, 20 were in Novato.

Also reported were nine cases of mumps, five cases of gonorrhea, three cases of infectious hepatitis, and one case of salmonella. Two cases of serum hepatitis were reported, one each in Larkspur and San Rafael.

Star Observers

Star Observers of Marin will have a special meeting Aug. 11 to observe the Perseids meteor shower, according to the group's secretary, Mel Beck.

New Zealand's climate is mild.

THRIFT-D-LUX CLEANERS

THRIFTY IN PRICE · DE LUXE IN QUALITY

Try Prune Plum Shortcake—

If you have never eaten Fresh Purple Prune Plum Shortcake, you have a treat in store. For this "fruit that's different" is here in our markets from the great Pacific Northwest, in abundance and at a price that's right. Acutally "Italian Prunes," they are often called "sweet plums," "blue plums," "purple plums" which is more fitting for their regal coloring, and officially "purple prune plums." But, whatever they are named, you will easily identify them by their silver-dusted purple skins.

Do be tempted to buy more than a pound or two for eating out-of-hand. They are good in so many ways all through the day that you'll enjoy getting them in the convenient-sized packages. They keep well in your refrigerator and their freezing is easy.

THIS IS a freestoned fruit, which is most unusual in the prune-plum families. So it is easy enough to prepare. For the shortcake, thin-slice the halves and sprinkle lightly with granulated sugar or pour over the fruit equal parts of warmed honey and orange juice. Good too are grenadine, liqueurs such as Cointreau or Curacao with distinct orange flavors, or a true brandy such as Kirsch. Allow to stand an hour or more at room temperature.

Honest-to-goodness shortcake for the plums is fashioned of biscuit dough made richer with extra shortening or cream cheese cut into the usual ingredients. Cream, sweet or dairy-soured, and ofen an egg are used. Your own basic biscuit recipe or biscuit mix may be enriched. For really good eating, do try our recipe for:

FRESH PURPLE PRUNE-PLUM SHORTCAKE

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
3-ounce package cream cheese
2 tablespoons butter
1 egg, well-beaten
about ½ cup milk
additional butter as needed

Sift together first four ingredients. Add cream cheese and butter; cut it in with a pastry blender or 2 knives until mixture resembles coarse meal. Pour beaten egg into measuring cup. Add milk to make ¾ cup. Gradually stir into flour mixture. Turn out onto floured cloth or board and knead dough about 30 seconds. Pat half the dough into a well-buttered round 8-inch layer cake pan. Brush surface generously with melted butter and sprinkle with granulated sugar.

Bake in a pre-heated hot (450 degrees F.) oven about 20 minutes. Remove the cooked shortcake to a serving plate and, using a pancake turner or wide spatula, lift off the top. While still hot, dot lower half with softened butter, cover with half or more of sweetened purple plums. Replace top half and cover with remaining plums. Serve hot, cut in wedges, with heavy cream, pour-on or whipped, or thick dairy-soured cream. Grated orange rind may be added to the dough or used to sprinkle over the slightly-sweetened whipped cream. Yield: 6 generous servings, 8 polite ones.

TO DO AHEAD: any time before meal, make dough up to point of adding egg and milk. Refrigerate. Just before serving, complete and bake. Always serve hot.

There's quick energy by the bite in fresh purple plums. They are rich in natural energy-producing sugars, a good source of vitamins A, B, and G, and of important minerals including iron, calcium, phosphorus. Good eating, any way you look at it!

BETTER THAN THE ALARM CLOCK

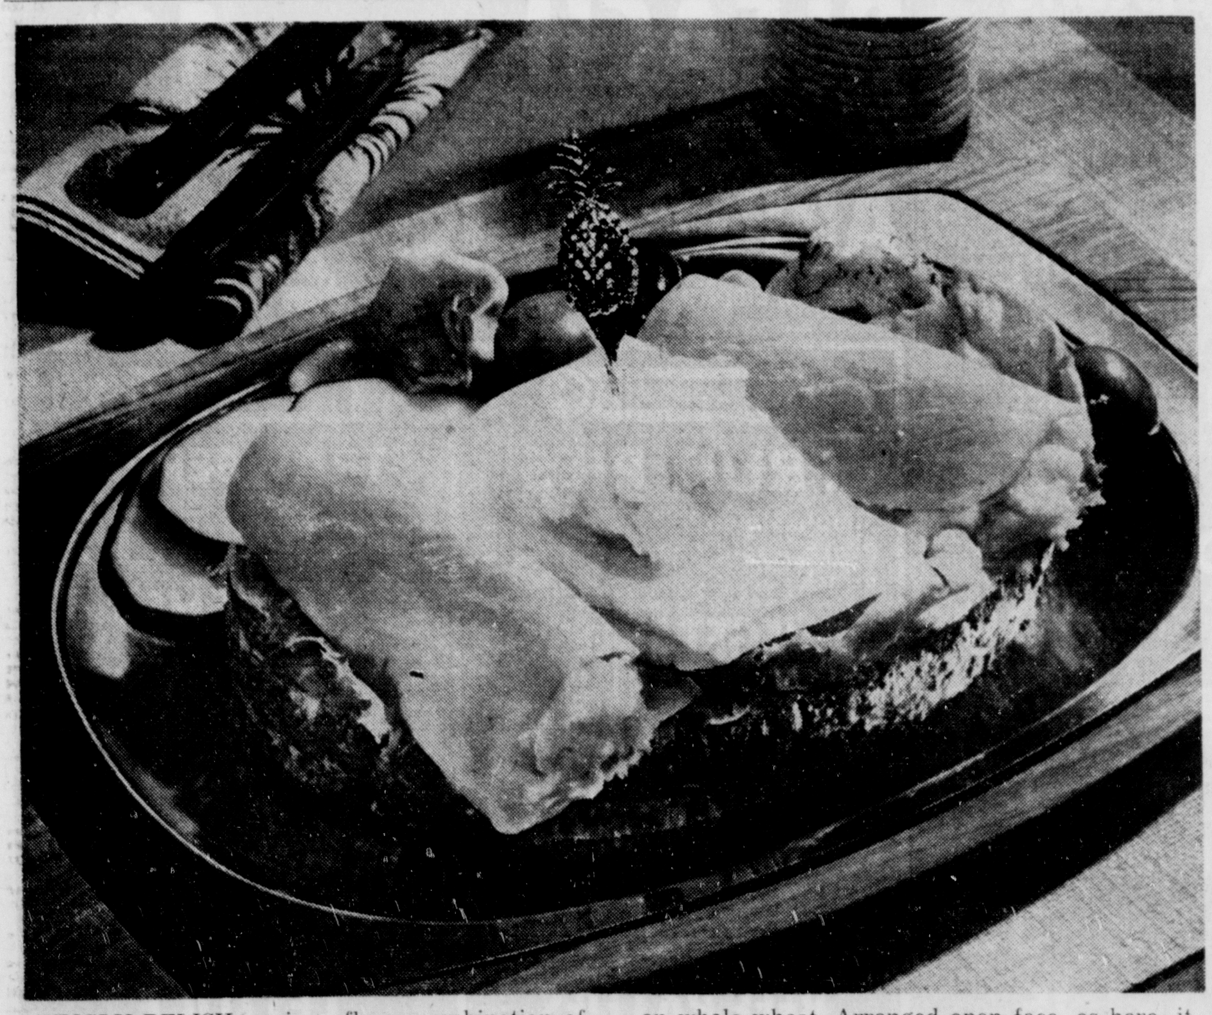
Fresh purple prune plums are so good for munching through the day, for lunch-toting, for between-meal snacks. Ever-so-good too for breakfast — thin-sliced with cream and a sifting of powdered sugar, of with a bit of warmed honey drizzled over them . . . Not a bad idea for an easy-to-fix dessert. These plums are delicious cooked, to serve as a breakfast sauce. And there's that favorite hot breakfast bread which can also double as dessert, Dutch Purple Plum Cake! Just like your Dutch Apple Cake, either as a quick bread or with a yeast dough. Mixes make this treat easier than ever.

SALAD WAYS

Luncheon finds fresh purple prune plums in salads, with cottage cheese and greens. Or add to fruit combinations. Use in gelatin salads such as the popular "souffle" type. Or, using plain gelatin with fresh or canned fruit juice, gingerale, wine, fold diced purple prune plum halves into the gelatin mixture before it congeals. Use purple plum halves (a flick of the paring knife zips out the seeds) stuffed with cream cheese or a Roquefort cheese mixture as a salad garnish. Try in Waldorf salad along with apples, celery, nuts. Or in a Chef's salad — greens, slivers of cheese, ham, chicken or tongue, fresh purple prune plum strips, French dressing.

PURPLE PLUM PRETTY

Remember Ambrosia with its sliced oranges, bananas, coconut? Do include thin-sliced purple prune plums allowed to stand in a bit of honey and orange juice heated together and poured over the plum slices before combining with the other fruits, to serve well-chilled. Good for a fruit cup too and fruit compotes — fresh purple prune plums combined with other fruits, fresh or canned, a bit of wine or liqueur, or citrus fruit juice added, and chilled. Purple plum whips and souffles, hot or cold, are superlative. And fritters — had you thought of them? Serve as dessert or a first-rate accompaniment for ham or pork roast.



TINGLY RELISH, a zippy flavor combination of crushed pineapple, horseradish and sour cream, adds new life to the conventional ham and Swiss on whole wheat. Arranged open face, as here, it can be garnished with salad-like relishes of cucumber slices, cherry tomatoes and artichoke hearts. Or, it can be served as a closed sandwich.

Tingly Relish Adds Zip To Sandwiches

August is National Sandwich Month when we think of different combinations and serving suggestions for this ever popular "meal." And because of the many times when a sandwich is the answer to satisfying hunger and providing needed nutrition, we think it is beneficial to have those who work in the food field (chefs, home economists, dieticians and writers) give extra special thought to making sandwiches better. A marvelous variety has been added to the old favorites of ham and cheese, Swiss on rye, sliced chicken and tuna salad. They've taken on new modern looks and have been joined by compeltely new combinations.

For one example of something new to add a fillip of flavor to old favorites, we've found a Tingly Relish that adds zip to all kinds of sandwiches. The refreshing juicy flavor of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, zipped with some horseradish, then made mellow and spreadable with sour cream gets our vote for the new relish that can go with all sandwiches. And when you've run the gamut of sandwiches, try this zingy accompaniment with cold or hot meats.

1½ cups Hawaiian crushed pineapple (No. 2 or 1 lb., 4½ oz. can), well drained
2 tablespoons sour cream

Mix all toghether well. Use on sandwiches, or as a meat or seafood accompaniment.

Some suggestions for using relish: Rye bread, Swiss cheese. Pastrami; Whole wheat or white bread, lettuce raft, roast beef; Ham and cheese (Swiss, American, Cheddar).

CORONARY RISK

'Please Pass The Cholesterol'

Second in a series of articles dealing with diet and heart disease, provided by the Marin County Heart Assn. as a public education service.

"Please pass the cholesterol."

"By all means. And do have some more of this delicious saturated fat. I cooked it especially for you."

An impossible dialogue? Yes, but only the words are unreal. The situation they reflect is real enough.

Because each year, more and more Americans may be eating their way to premature heart attacks, the Marin County Heart Association warns, changes in our eating habits are in order for all of us, young and old, sick and well. This warning was sounded on the basis of growing scientific evidence indicating that dietary control may be a key factor in turning the tide of increasing mortality from coronary artery disease and heart attacks.

THE UNDERLYING process resulting in heart attack is arteriosclerosis: a buildup of fatty deposits along the inner walls of the coronary arteries feeding the heart muscle with vital blood. This process, starting silently early in life, can narrow these vessels to the danger point: the point at which a blood clot can plug up a main branch of the network and deal a damaging or even death blow to the heart.

What has this all to do with what we eat?

The scientific detectives who have been on the trail of any and all suspects in this medical mystery have come up with substantial evidence — circumstantial, to be sure — incriminating the food we eat.

Studies of population groups in the United State States and elsewhere have disclosed an association between blood levels of cholesterol and other fats and the incidence of coronary heart disease. Populations with a low concentration of fats and cholesterol in their blood have a lower heart disease death rate than populations with higher concentrations.

Moreover, laboratory studies tend to confirm the statistical findings, an important point in evaluating the validity of statistical evidence. In more and more experiments, scientists have been able to produce arteriosclerosis and even heart attacks in animals by feeding them diets high in cholesterol and saturated fats.

THE DIETS consumed by most Americans are not only excessive in calories, but also high in total fat, saturated fat and cholesterol — the very food components leading to high levels of cholesterol and other fats in the blood. Furthermore, several studies have shown that high blood cholesterol levels in middle-aged American men can be brought down significantly by carefully controlled diet programs. And, researchers feel, there is good reason to believe that lowering these levels will also lower the incidence of premature coronary artery disease.

In New York City, to take one example of a current diet-heart study, 814 middle-aged men, aged 40-59 at the start, have been following a cholesterol-lowering "Prudent Diet" since 1957. Popularly known as the "Anti-Coronary Club," the group, free of heart disease at the program's outset, has had a heart attack rate of 3.4 per 1,000, as compared with a 9.8 per 1,000 similar men who ate as they pleased during the same period.

The Prudent Diet, providing 2,700 calories a day, allocates only 30-33% of the total calories to fats. (The average American diet is estimated to contain about 40-45% fat calories. Moreover, in the Prudent Diet, a significantly larger proportion of these fats comes from polyunsaturates — vegetable oils, fish and poultry — rather than the saturated fats that ordinarily predominate in the American diet.

IN URGING ALL Americans to modify their eating patterns along the lines of the Prudent Diet, the American Heart Association emphasized the need to make sound food habits "a family affair." It advised the public to:

Increase the consumption of unsaturated vegetable oils and other polyunsaturated fats, substituting them for animal fats wherever possible.

Eat less food rich in cholesterol.

If overweight, reduce.

This is what all of us can do, now, to get a head start in heading off heart attacks, the Marin County Heart Association emphasizes. It points out that a decade of experience by large groups of adults has shown no evidence of any ill effects from these dietary modifications.

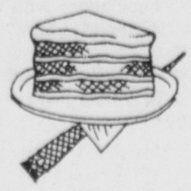
AUNT MARY'S

Farm-Style Cream Pie From Vermont



"You've got to learn how to make my Aunt Mary's Cream Pie," Lloyd Selby told his bride Edith when they were first married. "The family will expect it to be the dessert whenever they come over for a real good meal!"

So Edith borrowed the recipe and she's been making the pie ever since. Edith is no mean cook. Born and raised on a farm, concocting featherlight yeast rolls and butter cakes from scratch comes as naturally to her as heating TV dinners does to a jigtime cook. But Edith swears she's never tampered with this cream pie recipe since she inherited it from Lloyd's Aunt Mary.

When guests come to visit the Selbys in Derby Line, in Vermont, like as not they'll be served this delightful dessert. Edith's been making the pie so long that now everyone calls it Edith Selby's Cream Pie.

When we tried the recipe in our own kitchen, we found the pie simple and good — chockful of the uncomplicated flavor of pure ingredients. Edith says she often garnishes the pie with puffs of whipped cream and halved fresh strawberries, or sometimes with a wreath of well-drained canned apricot halves. Though she admits her family likes it best just plain. "Make Cream Pie, but none of your fancy trimmings!" they say.

We, too, enjoy the Cream Pie plain. And that's how we took it visiting. Asked to an informal supper, we told our hostess we'd bring the dessert. We did — Edith Selby's Cream Pie. With it we also brought paper plates, coffee cups and napkins — just to make life easy for our hostess. And did she appreciate it!

EDITH SELBY'S CREAM PIE

- 2 tablespoons regular flour
- ½ cup sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1½ cups milk, scalded
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 2 egg whites
- 8-inch pie shell with a very high fluted rim, baked until a pale gold color and cooled

In the top part of a double boiler, stir together the flour, sugar and salt. Gradually stir in the scalded milk. Cook and stir constantly over simmering water until mixture thickens — about 10 minutes; remove from heat and cool. Stir in heavy cream and vanilla. Beat egg whites until they hold stiff straight peaks. Fold into custard mixture. Pour into baked pie shell. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until set — 45 minutes. (Shell and top of pie should be golden brown.) Makes 6 servings.

Helpful Tricks For Vegetables

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Overcooking spoils vegetable color.

To enhance the looks of vegetables, and also preserve texture and nutrition, cook them until just done, advises the University of Nebraska Extension Service.

Red vegetables such as beets and cabbage can be changed from bluish to bright red by increasing the acidity of the cooking water slightly. Add small amounts of vinegar or lemon juice.

Angel Food

Nectarines And Raspberries Make For Delicious Compote

Broiled Steak
Creamed Potatoes
Broiled Tomatoes Salad Bowl
Raspberry Nectarines
Ladyfingers

RASPBERRY NECTARINES

- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen sweet-red raspberries, thawed
- 6 medium nectarines (about 1¼ pounds)
- 2 tablespoons kirsch (clear cherry brandy), if desired

Into an electric blender turn the raspberries and whir to puree; force through a fine strainer to remove seeds. (Cover and chill if made ahead.) Just before serving, slice the nectarines and mix with the raspberry puree; if used, add the kirsch. Makes 6 servings. (If nectarines are added to the raspberry puree some hours ahead of serving they may discolor and thin the puree.) Sugar to taste may be added to this compote.

Berries Better

Good Jelly

Cran-orange jelly can be prepared from fresh and bottled fruit juices available the year round. Combine 2 cups each of bottled cranberry juice cocktail and fresh orange juice, ¼ cup of fresh lemon juice and 7 cups of sugar in a large saucepan. Mix well. Bring to boil over high heat. Stir in 1 bottle of liquid fruit pectin. Boil hard for one minute, stirring continuously. Remove from heat and skim foam with a spoon. Pour jelly immediately into sterilized hot jelly glasses. Cover with about ⅛ inch of melted paraffin. Cover with lids and store. Makes about 10 (1-cup) jelly glasses.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Soprano At Home Before Opera Role

By MOLLY MARIN

Dr. and Mrs. Earle Marsh of Mill Valley picked up their daughter, Jane, in San Francisco yesterday after her arrival from New York. She will be home for a rest before she starts rehearsals for her major American opera debut with the San Francisco Opera Company this fall. She will sing the soprano role of Pamina in performances of Mozart's "The Magic Flute," with the first one set for Sept. 20.

TWO WEEKS cruising the inland waters of British Columbia was the vacation shared by Dr. and Mrs. Benton Mathews and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brash, all of Belvedere. The party on the chartered yacht included the Mathews' sons, Bill and Joe Mathews, and the Brashes' daughter, Kem, and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Spence of Susanville.

MRS. MARGARET B. Anderson of Napa, formerly of San Rafael, was married to Capt. (USN ret.) James C. Bentley in the chapel of the First Presbyterian Church in Napa on July 29. She was given in marriage by her brother, Forrest A. Bartlett of Belmont, and Mrs. Howard Baldwin of San Rafael was matron of honor. Capt. (USN ret.) Robert E. Close was best man. Mrs. Bentley, who was formerly the wife of Dr. Samuel T. D. Anderson of Marin, is the author of a book on Robert Frost and teaches English at Napa Senior High School.

CLIMAX of a busy summer for the Mervin Fields of Belvedere will be a trip to Vienna, where Merv will attend a marketing research conference. From Vienna they will cruise the Danube to Budapest. The Friends will be occupying their home while they are away. The Fields have recently returned from two weeks at Lake Tahoe, where they shared a house with the William R. Davises of Belvedere at the Tahoe Tavern area. In July they entertained guests from the east, Mr. and Mrs. Starr Northrop and their son, Carl, from Princeton, N.J., and Mr. Field's sisters, Mrs. Charles Adler of Woodmere, N.J., and Mrs. Bernard Loeb of Valley Stream, N.Y.

PRIOR TO the performance of "Twelfth Night," on Saturday at the Marin Shakespeare Festival, Mr. and Mrs. John Brebner, executive directors of the festival, have planned a reception. Among those attending the pre-theater party will be Messrs. and Mesdames Mel Wax, Joseph Manson, Jack Bernstein and Ruth Spanier and James Knox.

THRILLED with her first European trip was Mrs. Walter L. Long, who has just returned to Greenbrae from the six weeks' trip she made with her daughter, Bonnie, and mother, Mrs. Dorothy B. Johnson, also of Greenbrae. Mr. Long and another daughter, Janet, stayed home. The threesome visited England, France, Switzerland, Italy and Austria. They say they adored Venice and Capri and especially Switzerland with its mile after mile of green countryside and wildflowers. Swimming in the Mediterranean, they were amazed to find it more like a salty lake, so that it was easy to float and warmer than the ocean around Hawaii.

'Grapefruit Diet' Debunked By Mayo As Full Of Fallacies

By BARBARA HOSMER

The myths behind the so-called "grapefruit" or "New Mayo Clinic Diet" have been exploded by the Mayo Clinic's chairman of the committee on dietetics, Dr. H. N. Hoffman.

In a letter to Frances Dahl, Marin County Health Dept. nutritionist who requested information on the diet from Mayo, Dr. Hoffman disclaims any connection of the diet with Mayo's dietary treatment program.

"It is full of fallacies, inaccuracies and totally unfounded claims.

"There is no biochemical or nutritional fact or evidence which would indicate that coffee has any demonstrable influence upon insulin balance," Dr. Hoffman stated regarding the diet's claim that coffee affects insulin balance and hinders the fat burning process.

"I know of no scientific evidence to indicate that grapefruit possesses any catalytic action in the utilization of other food or in body fat metabolism, as stated in the diet," Dr. Hoffman said. The "grapefruit" diet claims that beginning each meal with a half grapefruit will act as a catalyst to start fat burning, which the dietetic specialist disclaims.

Dr. Hoffman also said that the section of the diet on fats and lipids is "totally misleading and downright ridiculous." The diet had claimed that it eliminates sugar and starches which form lipids, which form fat.

He also said that the diet's claims about weight loss have "no basis in any scientific work that I know of."

Dr. Hoffman concluded by stating, "I know that some patients who follow their own version or interpretation of the instructions for the "New Mayo Clinic Diet" lose weight. I am convinced that it is because they consume fewer calories than their daily physical activities require, not because of any magic or special metabolic properties of the diet."

As county nutritionist, Mrs. Dahl has found that the fad diet has been in wide use throughout Marin the past few years, and she wrote to Mayo Clinic to verify the fact that it had no scientific merit.

Women's Seminar In Terra Linda

A seminar for women to discuss liturgical changes, the role of sisters in the parish and protocol in church will be presented at St. Isabella's Church in Terra Linda on Aug. 15, 16 and 17.

The three-day seminar will be presented by Sister Marie Ann and Sister Patricia, Sisters of St. Joseph of Orange. It will begin on Aug. 15 with 9 a.m. mass at St. Isabella's Church and will be held from 10 a.m. to noon for the three days.

Mrs. Eugene Naber of Lucas Valley is president of St. Isabella's Women's Guild.

JOPA Schedules Summer Party For Singles Friday

The Junior Officers and Professional Association is holding another summer get-together for all "single-swingers" from Marin on Friday at The Village on Columbus Ave. in San Francisco. Dancing to the music of a "young-adult-pleasing" combo from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. will provide entertainment at the summer party.

Woman Driver Advised

BOSTON (UPI) — Learning to drive? Learn also "not to be afraid of being afraid."

That was the advice offered by a woman to other women half-a-century ago in The New England Motorist, official magazine of the Automobile Legal Association.

The woman, identified only as "A Woman Driver," wrote that she felt women as a whole "lack confidence in themselves to handle the unexpected, should the unexpected occur."

Natural Oversight Brings Whole Family Into Graduation 'To-Do'

DEAR HELEN:

My whole family, consisting of four brothers and three sisters, plus three aunts and 13 nieces and nephews (all grown), knew about our daughter's graduation from college.

Yet she received exactly three cards, and no gifts! I've always remembered them on birthdays and Christmas, and when the children graduated from high school I sent nice gifts. None went on to college except our daughter, so this is a big occasion in our lives.

I was so hurt I called them all up and said this was the last time I'd ever remember them for anything, and I reminded a few about all the things I'd done for them.

Now the gifts have started coming, but I know I just shamed them into it. I've a good mind to send them all back. Do you blame me?—MRS. B.W.

DEAR MRS. W.:

I think you've blamed your family overmuch for a natural oversight. People don't make a big to-do about college graduations; many graduates consider it "corny" to send out announcements, and are somewhat ends with high school.

If you don't want permanent hard feelings, I suggest you get on the phone and make your peace.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

When our daughter got married last year it cost over $1,500.

Next spring our son plans marriage. Friends say our wedding gift to him should amount to about half the cost of our daughter's wedding.

We don't have a lot of money and are still paying for last year's affair. We also have three more children to go. If we give a wedding gift this expensive, we'll have to borrow the money for it. What's the rule? — TRYING TO BE FAIR

DEAR TTBF:

The only logical rule is: give no more than you can afford. You evidently couldn't afford embarrassed by gifts and cards. This sort of remembrance often $1,500 for the first wedding. Next time, be sensible!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You recently printed a letter from a 14-year-old whose father wouldn't give her privacy. Perhaps it was as you said — he didn't realize she was growing up, but I speak from experience that wrecked our home.

So to the troubled daughter, I say, discuss the situation with your mother and insist on the privacy due a teen-age girl.

To the mother: Listen to this girl! Perhaps the only problem is thoughtlessness on the part of your husband, but — get it straightened out! — I WAS THERE

Citrus-y

Lemons and limes long have been used as seasonings. Both juice and rinds impart a tangy flavor to food. Wedges and slices complement just about every mealtime course. The piquant flavor of lemon and lime tones up vegetables and salads, clear soups and broths. Lemon or lime rubbed or sprinkled on meat and poultry flavors and tenderizes them. A twist or generous wedge of lemon or lime enhances the taste of fish and seafood, and cuts any "fishy" taste.

Orientation Will Help First Grader

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Parents have a job to do if their child is entering a school for the first time in September. It is possible to make the adjustment easier and reduce the usual fears. Some of the following suggestions are also useful for any child who may be apprehensive about his new class and teacher.

THE BASIC problem for anyone facing a new situation is fear of the unknown. Therefore, the obvious solution is an orientation which makes the student more familiar with the many new things he will encounter. The orientation falls into several areas.

The child should be registered and assigned to a class as soon as possible. Many school offices are open during the summer. An early start gives the principal more time to obtain necessary records and information necessary for proper placement. Perhaps a tour of the building and a look at the new classroom is possible. Show the child around the grounds. If possible, he might spend some time in the playground.

IT IS HELPFUL to find out if any children in the neighborhood will be in the same grade or possibly the same class. Becoming acquainted with one or more of these children will be of definite assistance to your child. Your child may arrange to go to school on the first day with one of these new friends.

The parents in the neighborhood are also helpful. They can familiarize you with the best way to walk to the school in order to avoid dangerous crossings or to cross where policemen are assigned.

The school office or other parents can be helpful in giving you the details on opening time, school calendar, lunch arrangements and other rules which your child should know.

AS A PARENT, you should reassure your child that all the details have been reviewed. He should have an opportunity to ask questions and receive answers no matter how unimportant it may appear to you. Remember that he is a child and may have concerns which seem minute to you but gigantic to him.

A new school or class assignment requires some adjustments on the part of the student. Parents should make every effort to assist the child in this adjustment. The new situation can be most pleasant and successful when some reasonable steps are taken.

Miss Adams Becomes Bride In Oklahoma

The couple exchanged vows in a ceremony Saturday in Oklahoma City. Frances wore an Empire gown with attached train; the gown was satin with bodice and appliques of Chantilly lace.

Maid of honor was Peggy Rowse of Larkspur, who wore an Empire gown of pink chiffon over taffeta with moss green trim. The bride's brother, Kenneth, served as best man for the bridegroom.

Frances is the daughter of Mrs. Lucille Adams of San Rafael and Dr. Gail Adams of Oklahoma City. After being graduated from Redwood High School, she attended the College of Marin, San Francisco State College, and was graduated from the Universityof Oklahoma this spring. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Edna Adams of Corte Madera.

He is an alumnus of Riverhead High School, Riverhead, LI, N.Y., and the State University of New York at Farmingdale, attended the New York Institute of Technology, and was graduated from the University of Oklahoma this summer.

Paper Wearing Apparel Is Here To Stay

DALLAS (UPI)—Paper wearing apparel is here to stay, but it will only find its niche on the consumer market when manufacturers can get the cost down, says one textile authority.

"The cost of paper products is rather high," Dr. Dorothy Lyle, director of consumer relations, National Institute of Drycleaning, Silver Springs, Md., said in an interview.

"A buyer can get a good cotton dress for what she pays for a woven paper one and get more use from it," she added.

Dr. Lyle said she showed the first knitted paper dress in Kansas City during a convention of the American Home Economics Association (AHEA) in 1956.

"Since that time," she said, "there have been numerous developments in woven and non-woven paper products. They now have a better appearance and shape, although non-woven products are pretty stiff and will not drape."

She said the paper industry is working on non-disposable products for the future. "They are developing paper shirts that can be laundered five or six times and also some swimming apparel," Dr. Lyle said.

African Jewelry

BART Tries To Decide On Cutbacks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The engineering committee of the financially troubled Bay Area Rapid Transit District today faced the problem of how and where to trim the planned system.

The committee yesterday took the problem under consideration after Bart General Manager B.R. Stokes recommended reducing the proposed 75-mile system to 57 miles to save $110 million.

Stokes suggested cutting the ends of Bart's various lines and postponing construction indefinitely of several stations.

The original Bart plans were to be financed by bonds approved by Bay Area voters, but costs have exceeded estimates and the district failed in efforts to get the recent legislative session to okay additional funds.

Stokes recommended shortening the system's three main lines with terminations at Daly City, El Cerrito and Lafayette. He also called for construction of stations at six-car length instead of the planned 10-car size.

Good Times Mean Bad Times For Transit

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Mass transit in the city suffers when times are good, according to John C. Baine, St. Louis transit executive.

Tryouts Slated

Spanish Style Dances Next For Chest

Luisa Triana and a company of Spanish dancers and musicians will be featured in the third Marin Music Chest summer concert series, Sunday at 3 p.m. in Forest Meadows, Dominican College, San Rafael.

Included in the program will be Spanish gypsy dancers; dancers from Andalucian provinces; two numbers from the gypsy ballet, "El Amor Brujo," by de Falla, and a group of flamenco dancers.

Miss Triana will perform the castanet overture from Rossini's "Barber of Seville" along with numbers by flamenco guitarist Bruce Patterson and pianist Ralph Linsley.

Second Benefit Concert Sunday

A second organ benefit concert of chamber music will be presented Sunday at 8 p.m. at the Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church.

Performing will be violinists Roy Oakley Jr. of San Rafael and Jean Harris of Marinwood and soprano Nathalie Leffingwell of San Rafael with Margaret Oakley of San Rafael at the piano.

The program will consist of Concerto in D Minor for two violins by J. S. Bach; Sonata in G Major, Opus 100, by Dvorak performed by Mrs. Oakley and her son, Roy; and a group of four Mozart songs sung by Miss Leffingwell.

Novato Council Favors Joint Planning Body

The three-man council, with Mayor J. Wayne Womack and Councilman Douglas M. Merrill absent, gave the endorsement after County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker presented some ideas on scope of the proposed commission.

Zucker said the county should have the voice of the cities in planning such things as regional parks, highways, and the route of rapid transit.

He said he did not feel the proposed commission would be creating another agency. The work load could be divided between the county's and cities' staffs, he said.

Councilman William Jack Adams suggested that the same objectives could be achieved by revamping the county planning commission to include four or five members from the cities.

"A separate planning group could come up with a great plan, but unless it is followed by the county planners, it would all be to no avail," Adams said. However, he voted with Councilman Harley McAskill and M. E. Babe Silva to endorse Zucker's proposal.

The Novato city council also:

CULVERT — Awarded a $28,989 contract to Ghilotti Brothers Inc. of San Rafael, lowest of seven bidders, to reconstruct and enlarge the box culvert on Center Road at Vineyard Creek.

ORDINANCE — Introduced an ordinance giving the city building department power to issue stop-work orders when any city ordinance is violated in building construction, and an amendment to the city fee ordinance increasing the minimum building permit fee from $2 to $10 and that for swimming pools from $15 to $25. It refused to introduce an ordinance requiring electrical work on swimming pools be done by a licensed electrician. A revision providing that electrical installation must be inspected before the pool may be used will come up at the Aug. 24 meeting.

AIRPORTS — Recommended that Councilman McAskill be appointed to an advisory committee on regional airport system planning of the Association of Bay Area Governments.

DOWNTOWN — Accepted the report on meetings of the downtown study committee and the resignation of Ben Edwards from that committee.

FINANCIAL REPORT — Authorized payment of $2,500 to Bartle Wells Associates for a financial report on the proposed bond issue of $8 million for streets and parks.

BUSES — Authorized the staff to negotiate with Novato Unified School District staff for use of school buses for recreation trips. In the past year the recreation department has sponsored 10 bus trips at a cost of $1,800, renting buses from a private company.

PIONEER PARK — Approved an agreement with the Department of Housing and Urban Development for federal payment of half of the $70,374 cost of Pioneer Memorial Park land.

GAS TAXES — Approved the annual agreement in which the city will get $171,374 in gasoline tax money for fiscal 1968.

Police Seek Why British Author Died

OAKLAND (AP) — The Alameda County coroner's office ordered a pathological examination yesterday to determine the cause of the death of Giles Romilly, 50, nephew of Mrs. Winston Churchill.

The British author's body was found Saturday by police in a hotel room in Berkeley.

Police had been called after the author's wife, Coral, appeared at a doctor's office in a state of shock and said she believed her husband was dead.

Berkeley police said the author had been dead several days when they entered his $60 a month room at Hotel California on Shattuck Avenue.

Detectives said he had taken a number of barbituates and that his wife told of taking a "bluish" one he gave her Tuesday and then awakening days later.

During World War II he had been a correspondent for the London Daily Express and had been captured by the Germans in 1940.

Purse Is Stolen

Mrs. Beatrice H. Brandon of 21 Paloma Drive, Corte Madera, reported to Mill Valley police at 5:36 p.m. Monday that someone stole her purse containing a $20 bill from her car while parked at 212 Lovell Avenue, Mill Valley.

The deepest oil well drilled in Texas went down 25,349 feet—and was a dry hole.

Rec Department To Present Play

The San Rafael Park and Recreation Department will present a musical play, "Bye, Bye Beatles" at the Santa Venetia Middle School at 1:30 p.m., Aug. 14-15.

The take-off of the motion picture, "Bye, Bye Birdie," was written by Father Miles Riley of St. Raphael's Church. It will be directed by Julie Leonardi with piano accompaniment by George Moran.

Fulbright—'Great Society' Lacks Strong Moral Fiber

HONOLULU (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, says the Johnson administration lacks the "moral and psychological capacity" to end the Vietnam war and advance social justice at home.

"The country sickens for lack of moral leadership," the Arkansas Democrat told the American Bar Association yesterday as he linked the war to violence in big cities at home.

"Far from building a safe world environment for American values," he said, "our war in Vietnam and the domestic deterioration which it has aggravated are creating a most uncongenial world atmosphere for American ideas and values.

"The world has no need, in this age of nationalism and nuclear weapons, for a new imperial power.

"But there is a great need of moral leadership—by which I mean the leadership of decent example.

"That role could be ours but we have vacated the field, and all that has kept the Russians from filling it is their own lack of imagination."

Prefacing his address to about 600 lawyers by calling for "introspection," Fulbright noted his opposition to U.S. policy in Vietnam and said, "We'll wait and see who's right."

"It seems to me," he added, "that self-adulation should not become a way of life."

In his 5,000-word speech, interrupted five times by applause, Fulbright directly challenged the Johnson administration's contention "that we can indeed afford both Vietnam and the Great Society."

"They produce impressive statistics of the gross national product to prove it. "The statistics show financial capacity," he said.

"But they do not show moral and psychological capacity.

"They do not show how a president preoccupied with bombing missions over North and South Vietnam can provide strong and consistent leadership for the renewal of our cities."

Road Deaths Drop In July

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The California Highway Patrol reported that July became the fourth consecutive month this year in which there was a decrease in the traffic death toll from last year.

For the first seven months of this year, a total of 2,602 persons have been killed, the patrol said, 70 less than for the same period of 1966.

July Employment Sets A Record

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — A record for July employment was set in California last month, with unemployment declining from June at about an average rate for the season.

Albert C. Beeson, director of industrial relations, said civilian employment for the month totaled 7,439,000, up 11,000 from the previous record set in June and up 200,000 from a year ago.

Giant Crane, Operator Fall Into Busy Street

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A giant crane toppled 10 stories from the top of an unfinished building in the rush hour traffic of a downtown Tampa street today. Miraculously, no one was killed.

Four persons were injured, including crane operator Floyd Masterson, who rode the vehicle on its long fall. He was reported in fair condition at Tampa General Hospital.

Three women in an automobile in a parking lot across the street missed sudden death by inches when the tip of the crane's 87-foot boom speared through the back end of the car.

Several workmen on the ground scrambled to safety as the huge crane smashed down at the corner of Zack and Marion streets, making a shambles of the area.

Tomilson's truck, a huge semi-trailer loaded with steel, was broken in two by the tremendous impact. A big hole was gouged in the street.

Tam Stamp Club To Meet Friday

The Tamalpais Stamp Club will meet at 8 p.m. Friday in the meeting room of Marin Coop at 71 Tamal Vista Boulevard, Corte Madera, president Ralph Bender announced. Hitherto the club has been meeting at Redwood High School. A "bid board" sale will be introduced at Friday's meeting and held at each meeting hereafter, Bender announced.

Chet Huntley Sells Ranch, Claims Target Of Vandals

NEW YORK (AP) — Television newscaster Chet Huntley says he has sold his 303-acre Rosemont, N.J., farm and 900-head herd of Aberdeen Angus cattle because of repeated vandalism.

And the vandals, Huntley said in a New York Times interview, apparently selected him as a target just because he was an "outsider" — and a wealthy outsider at that.

Huntley said at the peak of the operation he had almost $500,000 invested in the place. The vandalism, he said, had cost him more than $100,000.

He said that twice unknown persons released his herd to roam and run off pounds of potential filet mignon. Rifles were fired through windows, he said, and sand put in the gas tank and crankcase of a tractor, ruining the vehicle.

Boys Injured When Bicycle, Auto Collide

A San Anselmo boy and his passenger were injured yesterday when the bicycle on which they were riding collided with a car on Dutch Valley Road, Sleepy Hollow.

Roger L. Hanne, 6, of 4 Dutch Valley Lane, San Anselmo, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured left ankle and cut hand.

His passenger, Stewart Simmons, 4, of 15 Dutch Valley Lane, went home for treatment of minor injuries, California Highway Patrol reported.

The accident occurred at 6:55 p.m., in front of 10 Dutch Valley Lane, according to the patrol.

The westbound car was driven by Steven William Moeller, 16, of 104 The Alameda, San Anselmo.

Marin Studies Mental Health Funds Lawsuit

County Council Douglas J. Maloney revealed yesterday the "distinct possibility" of a law suit to force payment of $16,000 Marin was short-changed in state mental health funds.

Marin received only $137,682 last month on a claim of $153,682 for reimbursement of mental health care expenses under the state Short-Doyle program.

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of the county community mental health services department, argued that state reneged on a signed agreement, said he had billed for the full amount, and had referred the case to Asst. County Administrator Thomas F. Campanella.

Maloney said the agreement, signed in June, 1966, by Duane E. Brooks, chief of the bureau of budget planning and analysis in the state department of mental hygiene, "certifies" state payment of expenses incurred by the county within a pre-arranged budget.

Miller has insisted the county's claim was withing budget limits.

Maloney said the possibility of a joint suit would be discussed with counsel in other counties which were similarly short-changed. Among these, is the City of San Francisco, which lost nearly $100,000.

A final dicision would be reached after the consultations, Maloney said.

Marin's slashed payment was for expenses from January through March. Miller said state mental health authorities had asked counties in February to restrict spending because of rising costs within the department.

Marin made some cutbacks, Miller said, but the payment still was shorted $16,000.

Miller has upped the claim for April through June expenses by that amount, but has received no word.

Bear Kills Girl On Picnic Outing

VERNON, B.C. (UPI)—An 11-year-old girl picnicking in the hills in British Columbia's scenic Okanagan area was attacked and killed yesterday by a marauding black bear.

The bear, a four-year-old male, attacked and dragged Susan Duckitt of Haney, B.C., off into the bushes while her 9-year-old companion escaped to safety. A group of nearby cottagers tracked down the bear and shot and killed it.

Jennifer McHugh, 9, of North Vancouver, B.C., escaped.

Actresses Battle

MANILA (AP) — A local judge has ordered the arrest of shapely Filipino actress Stella Suarez following a scratching, hair- pulling battle with another film star.

The order came shortly after both actresses filed charges of physical injuries against each other.

The fight between Miss Suarez and Lucity Soriano, two leading sex symbols of the local cinema, erupted while they were on location at a beach resort outside Manila.

Professional jealousy was believed behind the quarrel.

Almost 2 Per Cent Of Marin's Structures Called Dilapidated

An annual report on neighborhood conditions in the unincorporated area of Marin County yesterday classified 904 structures out of an estimated total of 45,000 as dilapidated.

The report, drawn by the county planning department to requalify for federal housing grants, said that another 15,314 buildings showed minor to broad evidence of deterioration.

A five-year correction program, assisted by federal funds, was outlined.

In presenting the report to the board of supervisors, Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the report, known as a "workable program," was required by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for the county to remain eligible for grants toward Marin City redevelopment, housing for the elderly and low-income projects.

If it were not submitted, HUD has indicated plans for the Novato senior citizen housing project would have to be scrapped, Zucker warned. Long range plans for "modern" income housing under a bonus system for developers also would be jeopardized, he said.

The report recommends five methods to bring structures considered substandard up to provisions of the state housing code and county building and zoning codes. Intensity of corrective measures would depend on conditions of the building.

Of the 58 neighborhoods, 21 have a total of 7,924 structures proposed for survey by automobile with personal inspection if necessary; three areas have 1,316 buildings slated for on-foot inspection; 18 neighborhoods contain 3,504 structures requiring detailed inspection; six have 2,570 buildings qualifying for federal aid to conform with the codes, and 10 have 904 buildings needing federal assistance to correct "seriously dilapidated" conditions.

However, the worst areas cannot be handled first, Zucker said, because of the lack of immediate federal aid. Listed for action in 1967-68 under the detailed inspection program are 886 structures, many of them summer cottages, in eight areas of West Marin — Dillon Beach, Inverness, Inverness Park, Marshall, Nicasio, Olema, Point Reyes Station and Tomales.

The neighborhoods containing the worst buildings, according to the report, are China Camp, Golf Links, Lomita Park, Muir Beach, Granton Park, Point San Pedro, Richardson Bay, San Quentin Terrace, Stinson Beach and Marin City, although it was noted code enforcement is underway there.

The supervisors voted to pass the building analysis to HUD, although Supervisors John F. McInnis questioned the expense of paying inspectors to ride around in exclusive neighborhoods looking for violations.

Zucker said the program would not mean additional county expense in the beginning, but disclosed plans to add inspectors to the county staff in future years.

Study Didn't Cover Subject

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Sheldon Coleman, head of a manufacturing plant, boned up on a new catalytic heater his firm was making so he could answer questions at a stockholder's meeting.

He thought he was ready when a woman stood up at the meeting and said:

"Mr. Coleman, about this catalytic heater — how do you spell, 'catalytic'?"

Astrologers Have A Problem Here

Rhinoceroses Living Well

NEW DELHI (AP) — The great one-horned rhinoceroses of India's Assam State are prospering.

When their forest area was made a game reserve 60 years ago there were only 12 rhinos and it was feared they would become extinct.

Today it is estimated there are more than 370.

Famine State Sets Funds For Tourism

PATNA, India (AP) — The government of famine-stricken Bihar State has allocated 7 million rupees ($930,000) for the development of tourism during the next four years.

One of the popular tourist sites in the east Indian state is Bodh Gaya, a Buddhist shrine where Lord Buddha is said to have spent many years meditating.

Validity Of New Sanitary Board In Air

The Tamalpais Community Services District, believed to have gone into effect as an official body July 13 when its five members were sworn in by County Clerk George H. Gnoss, may not be effective until July 1, 1968.

The reason is that board of supervisors resolution of April 18 states that the district will become effective next July 1, Gale E. Bishel, board member, said today.

"We believe that the date is wrong and for tax purposes only," Bishel added, "But it is hoped that the matter will be crystalized so the board will not continue to operate in a vacuum." Inquiries are being made to County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney and Asst. County Administrator John F. Barrows.

Meanwhile, last night the board sat as the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District, signing letters and approving warrants. The five members were elected to the community services district by a vote of the people July 11. All were — or are — sanitary district board directors and "confused," said Bishel.

San Rafael Neighbors In Sonoma Collision

Claude W. Kennedy, who met two San Rafael neighbors last Sunday when his car collided with a truck and another car east of Novato in Sonoma County, is reported in good condition today at Novato General Hospital.

The accident occurred at 4:10 p.m. Sunday on Highway 37 where Highway 121 and Tolay Creek Road form a three-way intersection, California Highway Patrol reported.

A pickup truck driven by Kennedy, 47, of 17 Frances Street, San Rafael, southbound on Highway 121, was crossing Highway 37 when the truck collided with a car eastbound on Highway 37 driven by Milburn Raymond Bingham, 43, of Fairfield.

The impact of the collision sent Kennedy's car across the intersection against the car driven by Roxie Maxine Petty, 44, also of 17 Frances Street, who had stopped at the arterial sign.

The third neighbor, Lucila Heldbrandt, 29, of 17 Frances Street, San Rafael, a passenger in Mrs. Petty's car, told CHP that she would see her own doctor for minor injuries.

Bingham's passenger, J. W. Speights, 70, of Stockton was also taken to Novato General Hospital and was reported today in good condition and about to be released. He was being treated for multiple bruises.

Here's How To Break A Bad Habit

(Special to the I-J)

LOS ANGELES — Want to break a bad habit?

A UCLA psychologist, Dr. Bradley Bucher, has developed a technique that may shock you right out of that bad habit.

The subject carries a small device in his pocked (or her purse). Whenever he feels the urge to perform the undesirable habit, he squeezes two electrodes on the battery-powered device simultaneously, and a mild-to-moderate shock is administered.

Dr. Bucher has found that this method of punishing the habit frequently leads to its disappearance.

He has experimented with the technique among 30 subjects who were nail biters or smokers who wanted to quit. One other subject was a mentally ill person who "heard voices."

The technique has been successful with nail biters, Dr. Bucher said. Cigarette smokers are tougher problems. Sometimes the problem returns after a time, in which case the device can be used again. "We've been about 50 per cent successful with smokers."

After using the device, the mental patient stopped "hearing voices" He was a highly intelligent individual and easier to work with than most mental patients, Dr. Bucher pointed out. The technique might not work so well with other patients.

Novato Park Architectural Talks Slated

After discussing parks in general, the Novato Parks and Recreation Commission Monday night agreed to hold five more meetings with the landscape architect to discuss specific plans.

The plans will be for Novato Creek Park, Pioneer Memorial Park, Canyon Lake Park, San Marin Park, Lions Park and four school site parks at Marion, Lynwood, Olive and Pleasant Valley schools.

Dates for the meetings between the commission and Ribera and Sue, Berkeley landscape architects, were set for Aug. 12, 21, 28, and Sept. 4 and 14.

The meetings are to obtain a plan and cost estimate of the parks for the Novato City Council to include in an $8 million dollar bond issue election Jan. 23.

The commission agreed to a proposed zone change from a community center to single family dwellings for 20 acres in the Loma Verde master plan. This approval is dependent on the Loma Verde Homeowners approval.

Killers' Gas Chamber Trips Hinge On Court

Robert L. Massie, 25, has been scheduled to die in the San Quentin gas chamber Oct. 10—but the death date depends on an anti-capital punishment court hearing tomorrow in San Francisco.

Judge Robert Peckham will hear first pleadings in a San Francisco Federal District Court that the death penalty be declared unconstitutional because it violates prisoners' rights. The judge has stayed executions in California, all of which are performed at San Quentin Prison, until a decision is reached in the case.

Massie was convicted in Los Angeles County of shooting a woman during a robbery on Jan. 7, 1965, and was found guilty during the same trial of three other robberies. He has served a term in the federal reformatory at Petersburg, Va., for car theft.

This is the first time a death date has been set for Massie since his conviction, as he has been awaiting a decision on his automatic appeal to the State Supreme Court. The appeal was turned down, prison officials said.

The court case in San Francisco rests on allegations by attorneys for three death row inmates that state law does not provide funds for appeal by poor prisoners beyond the State Supreme Court; that prospective jurors who say they oppose the death penalty often are excluded from juries; that there are no firm standards for judge or jury under which to decide whether convicted persons should face the death penalty or a lesser sentence.

Blood Bank Times

The Irwin Memorial Blood Bank bloodmobile will be at the Corte Madera Public Safety Building tomorrow from 4 to 7 p.m., and at the Montgomery Ward and Co. store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center Friday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Flood Control Report On Radio

A progress report on the Corte Madera Flood Control Project will be given by four local and federal officials on the KTIM Sounding Board, Thursday from 9 to 10 a.m.

Speaking on the project will be Supervisor Ernest E. Kettenhofen, County Public Works Director Donald R. Frost, Corte Madera City Manager Ron Usher, and Lt. Col. Frank C. Boerger, district engineer for the Army Corps of Engineers in San Francisco.

Questions are invited for the Thursday broadcast. The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be repeated by tape-recording, Thursday at 9 p.m. over KTIM-FM.

Family Picnic

The Marin Committee for Fair Play will hold a family picnic 3 to 7 p.m. Aug. 30 in Stolte Grove, Mill Valley, the committee announced. Principal speaker will be Lanny Berry, special assistant to the superintendent of the Tamalpais school district. Reservations should be made by Aug. 15 with the picnic chairman, Charles Massen.

Russian Course

Tamalpais Adult Evening High School will offer a Russian language course for beginners this fall, according to the principal, James Hanretty. The course is also open to advanced students and will be taught by George Warton, a district teacher.

Lady Lumberjack Set To Depart For Texas

Anyone who wants to watch Marin's lady lumberjack in action had better see her soon. She's leaving for north Texas to herd cattle.

For the last year, Mrs. Frieda Howell has been working full time for Howell and Sons Tree Service of Mill Valley, driving trucks, running a winch and wielding a chain saw. "The only thing I don't do is climb trees," she said.

Formerly a laundry worker, she started tree trimming two years ago after she met R. D. Howell, who owns the tree service. At first she went out on the job with him occasionally when they were going together, she said.

It must have been the right formula because, since they married a year ago, she has pitched in full time with the tree surgery and removal work.

She looks too small to be a tree wrestler and too young to be a grandmother, but she's both. She has three children from a previous marriage, Mrs. Rita Rodriguez, Gary King and Harold King Jr., and two grandchildren — a boy and a girl.

The Howells have a buyer for the tree firm and plan to move at the end of this month to Van, Tex., where they will raise beef cattle on a 129-acre ranch — and have a tree service part time as well.

It will be a return home for Howell, a native of Texas. Mrs. Howell was born in Nebraska.

One of Howell's sons, Raymond, is still with the family firm. The other two, Ardie James and Gene Howell, now work for the city of San Rafael — in the tree service unit, of course.

Auto Workers Set Strike Vote

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union announced Tuesday its 400,000 General Motors Corp. members will take a strike vote the week of Aug. 20.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW vice president and head of the union's GM department, said the workers will be asked to sanction a strike in order "to bring the GM executives back into the world of reality."

The move was seen as the UAW's way of flexing its muscles by getting the strike approval so it can put more pressure on the giant of the auto industry. This is the fifth week of contract talks with GM, Ford and Chrysler.

WANT EXHIBIT A

Marin Will Get Eagle, But A Dry-Ice Variety

By JOHN F. KEARNEY

Marin County is about to be given the bird by the federal government. And it will be a second-best bird at that.

Ever since a Point Reyes rancher was accused — and acquitted — of illegally killing an American bald eagle last year, the county has been in high hopes of getting the stuffed bird for the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum.

SECOND CLASS

Marin might well get an eagle, but it won't be the magnificent bird that was Exhibit A at the federal court trial of Leroy Martinelli in San Francisco in October.

Incidations are the county will be fobbed off with a lesser specimen now reclining on ice in federal security vaults.

In June, Clifford S. Lund, president of the Marin museum, wrote a letter to Assistant United States Attorney Jerrold Ladar, a Mill Valley resident, asking that the Martinelli eagle be returned to the county for display.

OWNERSHIP

Lund said he had been told by Attorney William O. Weissich, who defended Martinelli in the shooting trial, that as Martinelli was acquitted, the eagle rightfully belonged to him.

Martinelli sent a back-up letter to Ladar saying he was prepared to waive his right to the eagle in favor of the museum.

Ladar, however, had a different opinion. Two months ago, he said that the mounted eagle used at the trial was federal court property and he did not know what would become of it.

He said he would "move heaven and earth" to see that Marin County got an eagle of some sort "by the first week in August at the latest."

He indicated the bird received by Marin might be the second agle which Martinelli killed when it attacked his sheep at the same time as he shot the bald eagle.

NOT FOR MARIN?—The big bald eagle which Sheriff's Sgt. Robert Bertrand held and little Gail Martinelli admired after her father, Leroy Martinelli, shot it for killing his lambs may not come "home" to the Louise A. Boyd Museum because of "political pressures" elsewhere. Independent-Journal photo was taken after the bird was shot in January, 1965.

At that time, Ladar said that if publicity was given to Marin County's efforts, "Museums from larger counties with stronger political organization" might bring pressure to bear on the federal Department of Interior in Sacramento to get the eagle for themselves.

"There are only a few stuffed eagles in existence in the United States," said Ladar. "It is a strictly protected bird."

That was in June. Attorney Weissich said yesterday he talked to Ladar last week and was told he was negotiating to get Marin an eagle at last.

It will not be the stuffed eagle . . . or the second Martinelli eagle. In fact, it is likely to bea mouldy bird which has been on dry ice with the Department of Interior for some time.

Efforts to reach Ladar for his comment during the past two days have been unsuccessful.

Meanwhile, back at the museum, Clara Evans, director, has written to Sacramento this week politely reminding the department of the facts.

And Lund commented: "It will cost the museum $75 to $80 to stuff the bird if we eventually get it. Why should we go to this expense when the already mounted eagle is legally ours?"

Novato Again Asks Assessor Sessions

The Novato City Council will not give up in its fight with county assessor to get some extra services for the people of the North Marin area to protest the higher assessments on their property.

The council last night voted to make its third request that the assessor hold either evening or Saturday sessions at the Novato Community House. This would be so that people in North Marin who cannot get to the Civic Center when it is open, can inquire about the increased assessment on their property and how to protest it.

The Novato area had its largest increase in assessed valuation this year, nearly 25 per cent.

In a letter read to the council last night, Assessor Bert Broemmel said that he could not do it with his present staff and that it would take three of four additional personnel.

"That's the oldest bureaucratic gag in the world," said councilman Harley McAskill, referring to the request for more help. "He can do it with his present staff for one Saturday or two or three evenings," McAskill continued.

Novato Home Invader Leaves Sweet Trail

A trail of ice cream bars, some pepermint candy and a comic book through a house whose owner is away on vacation, led Novato police to surmise that a juvenile had entered the house.

Thomas J. Chakos, 39, of 1548 Buchanan Street, Novato, yesterday told police that he thought that someone had entered the house of William Bailey at 1545 Buchanan Street, which he was watching while the Bailerys were away on vacation.

Building Permits

Anti-War Groups Unite Into Joint Peace Council

Representatives of 10 Marin groups which oppose the war in Vietnam last night formed the Marin County Joint Peace Council.

The new organization will coordinate work of the groups, plans to disseminate information about peace activities in the Bay Area and "hopefully" would take joint action, said Mrs. Ben Solomon of Kentfield, one of the delegates.

About 20 persons were at the Co-op meeting room in Corte Madera last night to elect Edward Thomson of Sausalito as president; Coleman C. Persily of San Rafael, vice president and treasurer; John Pickering, Mill Valley, secretary.

Under by-laws adopted last night, possibly controversial issues would have to be referred back to the member organizations for a decision, before Marin County Joint Peace Council could speak for groups, Mrs. Solomon said.

Meetings are scheduled for 8 p.m. the second Tuesday of each month at the Co-op meeting room.

Organizations which thus far have joined the council are Americans for Democratic Action, Citizens Concerned About Vietnam, Conference for New Politics, Faculty for a Negotiated Settlement, Marin Peace Central, People for Peace, Southern Marin Action Committee, United World Federalists, Vietnam Summer — Marin, Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Mrs. Solomon is a member of Citizens Concerned About Vietnam and Americans for Democratic Action. She estimated that the combination of organizations might reach a "few thousand" persons in Marin who are active or inactive members of the various groups.

Boy, 13, Tows Friend In Swim

Benny Samuel Barnes, 13, of 7 Apollo Road, told sheriff's deputies he and John Peter Franaszek, 12, of 17 Juno Road, went out on the raft, then lost their paddles and decided to swim back.

A witness on shore called deputies at 1:45 p.m. to say the boys were in the water 100 yards off shore.

Both Sides Vague In Reasons Behind Closed Poverty Session

By JIM BREWER

San Geronimo Valley property owners are in a state of confusion as to whether their temporary poverty investigation board can meet Monday in closed session as originally scheduled.

On top of that, neither the residents nor Economic Opportunity Council representatives seem to agree on why the secret session was called in the first place.

EOC officials are equally vague as to whether the meeting, scheduled for Monday at 8 p.m. at the Lagunitas School, will be legal if closed to the public.

According to the temporary board chairman, Mrs. Edwin Gardner, the group voted Monday night to have a closed session only at the request of Arthur Brown, Marin County EOC director. She said Brown told the group it may meet behind closed doors to discuss EOC procedure and conduct a training session without violating the Ralph M. Brown Act.

"But as far as I know, we can't do anything in a closed session except listen to Mr. Brown," she said. "If he wants us to waste another evening for the sixth week in a row, it's all right," she said.

Brown, however, said yesterday that permission for a closed meeting can come only from the EOC's county board which meets tonight. "It's up to the valley committee to request the closed session, and no one has said anything to me yet," he said.

Valley representative to the county board, Kent Rupp, said he has no intention of raising the question at the meeting. "I think all questions should be heard publicly, he said. "I don't think a closed meeting is necessary at all."

Brown maintained yesterday, that the valley committee can meet in closed session to discuss EOC policy or for training.

Although the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council is 90 per cent funded by federal monies, it is considered a private corporation, subject to state and county regulations just as a city council is, according to County Council Douglas J. Maloney. But Maloney added that he is not familiar enough with EOC structure to determine whether they can meet in closed session or not.

Mrs. Louise Lacey EOC worker who attended the Monday meeting, said yesterday she thinks the closed meeting was suggested in order to appoint a survey committee and to receive the valley welfare list.

The Ralph M. Brown Act, which regulates the meetings of public agencies, states that such a body may hold a closed session. . . . "during a regular or special meeting to consider the appointment, employment or dismissal of a public officer or employee, or to hear complaints or charges brought against such officer. . .."

Mrs. Gardner said she intends to find out for sure this afternoon "just what can and cannot be done."

Dozing Driver Treated For Cut

A Novato man, who works in a Sausalito restaurant, escaped with a cut eyebrow today when he fell asleep at the wheel of his microbus and it hit the divider fence on Highway 101, north of the Corte Madera overpass, and rolled over.

Dennis L. Schumacher, 45, of 23 Tyler Street, Novato was treated at Marin General Hospital.

Patient Treated For Slash Wounds

A 72-year-old patient at a convalescent hospital in Novato was treated yesterday by his physician for slash wounds on both wrists, which Novato police said were self-inflicted.

Charles Bay, who has been under the care of a psychiatrist, was then returned to the Novato Manor Convalescent Hospital at 655 Canyon Road, Novato.

Car Clouters Fail To Take Instruments

Burglars broke into the locked car Monday of Theodore Victorino, 919 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, but failed in an attempt to break loose a tachometer and oil gauge, sheriff's officers said today.

Three Hours Of Terror For Hostage

TUCKER, Ga. (AP) — Two escaped prisoners held a terrified young woman hostage for neary three hours yesterday, most of the time with a gun at her throat, before law enforcement officers talked them into surrendering on a crowded interstate highway.

The dental receptionist, Martha Ann Mobley, 20, collapsed into the arms of police and ambulance attendants screaming, "Thank God! Thank God!" after her captors freed her.

Officers said the leader of the two convicts, James S. Lowe, 23, cocked and uncocked the .38-caliber revolver he held at Miss Mobley's head as they pleaded with him to let her go. They said he also threatened to kill his fellow escapee, Bobby Joel Jerry Yarbrough, 23.

Lowe first demanded that he be allowed to escape in a car with the woman and a policeman accompanying him, then demanded to see Gov. Lester Maddox, to whom four escaped convicts surrendered several months ago at the governor's mansion to dramatize alleged poor prison conditions.

Miss Mobley's ordeal began when the two Stone Mountain prison camp convicts were taken to the office of a Tucker dentist, Dr. Robert D. Hiller.

At Hiller's office, officers said, Lowe pulled a knife and forced a guard to hand over his pistol. He and Yarbrough forced Miss Mobley, Hiller's receptionist, to flee with them in the prison's pick-up truck in a high-speed chase on Interstate 85 through evening rush hour traffic.

Police from Norcross shot three of the truck's tires and it swerved to a halt just off the highway.

Lowe fired several shots at police, officers said, then held them off with the gun at the woman's throat.

Some 50 law-enforcement officers including the FBI, state patrol DeKalb, Gwinnett and Atlanta police converged on the scene.

Both prisoners were serving 12-month sentences for burglary and larceny, a prison spokesman said.

Only 55 cities in the world had populations exceeding one million two decades ago. Today there are 120.

New Bankcard Association Says Credit System Sound

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The California Bankcard Association, replying to criticism from a House banking subcommittee, denied yesterday that there is anything wrong with its credit system.

"The association received approval of its operating plan from the comptroller of the currency, from the California State Banking Department, from the Federal Reserve Bank and received verbal clearance from the Department of Justice," said Garrison A. Southard Jr., president of Bankcard.

The legality of more than 2 million Master Charge credit cards issued by 73 California bank - members of the association was questioned by chairman Wright Patman, D-Tex., of the Banking Committee Monday.

Southard said the Federal Reserve Board has indicated interest in the methods used in issuing credit cards but has not raised the question of legality of methods of credit card distribution procedures.

He said member banks issued credit cards to checking account customers with proven records of good credit.

Flash Flood Hits Las Vegas Area

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)— One casino-hotel was forced to close and several homes filled with water yesterday when flash floods struck this desert gambling resort.

The affected hostelry was the Showboat Hotel, a 200-room structure on Boulder Highway east of Las Vegas. It evacuated its casino and placed its restaurant, showroom and first floor rooms off limits to patrons when water poured inside the building.

The hotel's auxiliary power units failed to operate and employes were forced to fight the flooding by candlelight and with flashlights.

NEW VERTICAL TAKEOFF IDEA

Called the Messerschmitt 408, the same power source supplies both wingtip rotors and twin jet engines for quick vertical takeoffs. In step 1, the plane is ready for takeoff. Step 2 shows the plane being lifted vertically by rotor power and step 3, the plane flying by jet with rotors housed in wing tips. A safety feature of the seven-passenger craft: when the power source fails, autorotation takes over to bring the craft to a soft landing.

Rocks Reveal Continental Drift Hints

WASHINGTON (SS) — New evidence strongly supporting the theory that the continents are drifting apart has been reported here from evidence from both the Pacific and Atlantic.

Dating of rocks from South America and Africa have shown an "almost identical" geological age boundary between regions in Ghana and a counterpart in northern Brazil. The radioactive datings are reported this week in the Science by Dr. Patrick M. Hurley and his co-workers at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, in cooperation with geologists at the University of Sao Paulo in Brazil.

West of the geological boundary in both Ghana and Brazil, rock specimens were dated as about 2,000 million years old. East of the boundary, the rocks are only 500 million years old. The datings support the theory that Africa and South America were once joined together.

Controversy regarding continental drift is now some 40 years old, a major problem being how it started and what causes it to continue.

The theory most widely accepted is that the ocean floors act like a vast soup kettle, slowly churning over as does soup being heated in a pot; the time scale, however, is in hundreds of thousands of years. The heat source for the earth's churning is believed to be either its molten interior or radioactivity.

This would mean that the sea floors in both the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans are gradually spreading. The Eastern Pacific has been spreading at the rate of about two inches a year for the last two million years, four scientists from Columbia University's Lamont Geological Observatory, Palisades, N. Y., have found.

They base this conclusion on analyses of more than 50 cores taken from the ocean floor near the East Pacific rise. The cores contained fossil material dating back some 12 million years.

The scientists found that sediments near the crest of the rise were either thin or lacking, and none contained material more ancient than about one million years.

Cores taken farther away from the crest, however, contained much thicker deposits of sediments consisting of much older material, growing gradually older with the distance from the crest.

"This pattern of increasing age and increasing sediment thickness away from the axis of the rise is in agreement with that predicted for the spreading of the ocean floor," they conclude. The studies were made by John Ewing, Lloyd H. Burckle, Tsunemasa Saite and Robert Leyden.

Additional evidence also consistent with the spreading of the Pacific floor is reported in the same issue of Science by Dr. W. R. Riedel of Scripps Institute of Oceanograpahy, University of California at San Diego. Dr. Riedel suggest that the sea floor is spreading at the rate of about three inches a year, on the basis of the distribution microfossils.

At Home Cook Takes A Leave

LONDON (UPI)—You can't please everybody. Navy Petty Officer Robert Braithwaite, assigned as chief cook aboard Britain's newest nuclear submarine, was "delighted" to be sent for a training stint to the kitchens of the Savoy Hotel. Mrs. Bratihwaite wasn't. "At home," she said, "he makes me do all the cooking."

Police Costs High At Tam's Big Happening

Police, guards, and general security for the Mount Tamalpais musical happening June 9-10 rang up record high costs for a Marin County event, according to accounts now coming to light.

Ninety-eight men put in about 2,047 manhours of police and guard duty at a cost to the county and the festival promoters estimated at $8,784.

Festival managers paid $1,084 directly to 18 Marin County Sheriff's deputies for their part in guarding and policing the two day event, according to Tom Rounds of radio station KFRC which promoted and ran the show attended by 30,000 persons.

Added to this was the $2,700 cost to Marin County for 572 man-hours put in by about 40 Sheriff's deputies assigned for extra highway policing and guard duty in the Mt. Tamalpais area.

The county appealed for reimbursement of this charge from the State Department of Beaches and Parks which authorized the happening. But the department yesterday turned down the county's request.

The festival hired an additional 40 private security men who logged 1,243 manhours costing nearly $5,000, according to Rounds.

The festival promoters yesterday announced that total expenses amounted to $53,220.87, leaving only a little more than $12,000 out of total receipts to be turned over to the Economic Opportunity Council. It was for the benefit of an EOC nursery in San Francisco's Hunter's Point that the festival was held.

National Forests Snow Is Melting

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—After one of the longest waits in modern history, hikers and other recreation seekers can now use nearly all the facilities in California's national forests.

The only remaining problems are for those who wish to hike or ride horseback in some of the higher passes in wilderness areas. Many are still choked with snow.

Among the areas remaining inaccessible to horseback riders are all major passes into Yosemite National Park.

Fair Car Share

AMSTERDAM (UPI) — Holland, the land of bicycles, also has its fair share of cars. Latest figures show there are more than 1.5 million private autos in the country, 18 per cent more than a year ago. That works out to an average of one car for each eight inhabitants.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Best Way To Beat The Heat Is To Use Common Sense

VAN DELLEN

Air conditioning is one way to beat the heat. But some persons cannot afford these units or do not care for chilled air. For these individuals, the following common sense tips may help to make summer more comfortable.

Wear lightweight fabrics. Colors such as white or pastels reflect the heat. Loose-fitting clothing is comfortable and allows the air to get to the skin so that perspiration can evaporate. Cotton undershirts absorb sweat.

EXTRA BATHS are cooling and cleanse the skin of oils and perspiration. In addition, bathing removes bacteria that cause unpleasant odors and skin infections. Swimming is an excellent summer exercise, especially when the water is cool. Other activities should be regulated by the age and physical condition of the individual. Those not acclimated to the heat are good candidates for heat exhaustion or stroke. These conditions are brought on more rapidly during exertion on a hot, muggy day.

Drink more fuuids to compensate for the loss in perspiration and from the lungs. Alcoholic beverages make the individual feel warmer and perspire more profusely. Warm or hot liquids and foods do the same. Some persons will disagree because they find that evaporation of perspiration has a cooling effect. If extra salt is needed, it can be sprinkled on sweet corn, radishes, onions, or celery.

A LARGE MEAL adds fuel to the furnace. Summer is a good time to cut down on calories if obesity is a problem. Smaller meals are in order, but avoid eating an unbalanced diet because proteins, carbohydrates and fats produce the energy required for work. Too little food may induce weakness which is blamed on the heat and not the diet.

Keep the home cool by closing the windows and pulling down the shades during the heat of the day. Open them at night. A fan is helpful.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

WARTS

O. M. writes: Are warts catching?

REPLY

BANDAGED FAT

C. L. writes: I read an article about a famous plastic surgeon who discovered a new and painless way to slim down. Little rolls of wafer thin rubber bandages are wound around every inch of flesh over the area that is fat. This prevents circulation of the blood to this area. The fatty tissues just dry up and die. The method is supposed to work so quickly that you can almost watch a person "defatting" before your eyes. Have you heard anything about this?

REPLY

No, and I doubt that it works. The bandages do not curtail the flow of blood and in this regard the rationale is faulty.

HYSTERECTOMY

Mrs. J. writes: What is the main reason why the uterus is removed?

REPLY

Abnormal bleeding is the chief cause but there are many others.

SCARRING

M. T. writes: Is scar tissue the same as a scar?

REPLY

Yes; a scar is made up of fibrous tissue which replaces normal cells destroyed through injury or infection.

FLABBY FLESH

J. S. writes: Is there any way to firm flabby flesh?

REPLY

Exercise an massage may help but there is a limit to the amount of slack that can be taken up.

CORONARY THROMBOSIS

P. W. writes: What is the layman's term for acute myocardial infarction, massive?

REPLY

UP WITH CHICKENS

L. M. Q. writes: What makes me waken two hours before the alarm goes off?

REPLY

It is possible that six hours is enough sleep for you. Insomnia plays strange tricks. Some sufferers find it difficult to get to sleep; others especially when depressed, waken too early. At any rate, when you awaken, relax. Don't spend two hours fussing and stewing because you can't get back to sleep.

MOTION SICKNESS

Mrs. T. writes: Is it better to eat or not to eat before boarding a boat? I refer to people who get seasick.

REPLY

A small meal with only moderate fluids is preferred to a heavy meal or starvation. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on motion sickness.

Today's Health Hint—

Snakes' Diet Preferences Inherited

WASHINGTON (SS) — The only escape for a snake's prey is to change its odor.

Each species of snake is apparently programmed at birth to know its food by smell, according to ethologist Gordon M. Burghart of the University of Chicago, who observed the attack behavior of newborn snakes in more than 15 species.

This is not learned, but passed down through evolution in such a form that the newborn snake can differentiate between worms, leeches, insects, minnows and other prey, reports Dr. Burghart. The baby snake attacks only that food normally eaten by its species. Nor can it be trained out of the evolutionary habit.

Dr. Burghart force-fed a litter of garter snakes from birth on an unnatural diet of strained liver. After six months, the snakes were still refusing the liver diet, but would immediately attack their natural food — worms.

Besides the normal olfactory organs, the snake has an additional smelling organ, called Jacobson's organ, located in the roof of its mouth. Flicks of the tongue transfer chemical substances from the outside air to this organ.

Dr. Burghart's work on snakes adds to the growing body of knowledge dealing with evolutionary behavior. In recent years, ethologists have found that a single cue — a color, a smell — will trigger an entire series of complicated acts, all determined by heredity — at least in the lower animals.

The red belly feathers of the British robin, for example, trigger attack by another robin. Male robins will even attack a bundle of red feathers, but will ignore a bird without the red cue.

It is not known whether any of this evolutionary knowledge has been preserved in the human being, but a number of investigators are tackling the problem.

Probably no odor would call up such specific action in man as in the snake, says Dr. Burghart. Nevertheless, he said, it is possible that odors could elicit emotion in man.

"Perhaps many of the feelings aroused daily in the odoriferous world of man are influenced in part, at least, by evolutionary memories recorded in the genes many years ago," he says in the August issue of "Psychology Today."

Prison Singers To Make Tour

LANSING, Kan. (AP) — Two dozen convicts will get out of the Kansas penitentiary for two weeks in October.

Under auspices of the Kansas Junior Chamber of Commerce, the prison choir will tour the state by bus and give three performances a day at high schools.

U.S. Losing War, U.E. Parley Told

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The war in Vietnam is being lost, not won, a San Francisco scholar has told the 32nd convention of the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Yesterday, Marshall Windmiller, associate professor of international relations at San Francisco State College, recounted his impressions gained on a world tour and analyzed the course of the war in Vietnam.

American forces are merely reacting to Viet Cong initiative, he said, not the other way round.

Humphrey Visits Campfires Of Scout Jamboree

FARRAGUT STATE PARK, Idaho (UPI)—The scouts of the world reluctantly began getting ready to end nine days of fun and fellowship which Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said they would "treasure the rest of your lives."

At each of the campfires, the vice president, a former scout master in Huron, S.D., said he brought "special greetings" from President Johnson and explained that the President could not visit the Jamboree because of other business.

Referring to the Jamboree theme of "For Friendship" Humphrey said "if only everybody could practice this theme everyday, what a wonderful world this would be."

Red Publisher Defects To West

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Chinese Nationalist officials today announced the defection of one of Hong Kong's leading Chinese Communist publishers, a chief agitator in the current anti-British campaign of violence in the colony.

They said the defector is Wu Shu-tung, 60, a member of the People's Political Consultative Council in Red China's Kwangtung Province, adjoining Hong Kong, and the chairman and general manager of the Communist-owned China Publishing Co. in Hong Kong.

Wu flew to Taipei Aug. 2 with his wife, official sources said. Officials said he is the highest Communist official to defect to Nationalist China. They said he termed the Communist campaign in Hong Kong a failure, largely because of the arrests of troublemakers by the colonial government.

Latin Conference Snags On Trade

HAVANA (AP) — The Havana conference of Latin-American revolutionaries was reported deadlocked today over a resolution to condemn Communist countries that trade in Latin America, an obvious slap at the Soviet Union.

The new discord further delayed the close of the meeting of the Organization of Latin American Solidarity—OLAS. It was scheduled to close last night but this was postponed because of earlier differences.

Informed sources said the Colombian National Liberation Army, a guerrilla group, and Brazilian extremists made the demand to condemn Communist nations trading in Latin America. Unconfirmed reports said Cuba supported the move. Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has condemned the Soviet Union in the past for trading with Latin-American governments whose overthrow he advocates.

Orbiter Snaps Earth Portrait

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Orbiter 5 has snapped the first picture of the "full earth," but earthlings won't get to see it for several days.

Re-Subdivision Given Approval By Planners

San Rafael planning commissioners approved re-subdivision of Kenney Homes' Terra Linda unit 21-A last night, but only if the builder complies with the city's slope policy on hillside cuts.

The 4-2 vote to allow John Kenney of Kenney Homes to proceed conditionally was opposed by Chairman Fred C. Robbins Jr. and Commissioner Pat Hetherton.

They supported Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner's description of the re-subdivision in the vicinity of Elda Court and Lea Drive full of discrepancies. Hotchner said the proposed development failed to meet zoning requirements.

Hotchner recommended that the builder prepare a new map showing house placement, lot grading, protective slopes, and drainage that would meet present zoning standards. He pointed out that 58 of the 99 lots in the re-subdivision would violate slope and grading requirements. But the commissioners didn't back Hotchner's call for a new map, but ordered compliance with his conditions.

In other action the commission denied the request of Dr. Jack Rosenberg, a dentist, for a parking variance at the Montecito Shopping Center to allow four parking spaces for himself and staff to be housed in a proposed dental office on a barge in the San Rafael Canal.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

Liquor Smuggling Probe In State

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Books and records of some liquor manufacturers and wholesalers will be examined by the State Beverage Control Board in an investigation into reported liquor smuggling in California.

New information indicates the state liquor industry has purchased "quantities of alcoholic beverages" at wholesale rates from outside California, Edward J. Kirby, director of the board, said Tuesday.

Kirby, in announcing the probe, said there was no way of telling how much liquor has been imported.

Barry Might Sit Out 67-68 Basketball Season

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Figure on Rick Barry, one of the game's top players, sitting out the 1967-68 season and the new American Basketball Association getting off the ground without a single National Basketball Association player on its roster.

Barry lost out in his bid to jump from the NBA San Francisco Warriors to the ABA Oakland Oaks yesterday when a San Francisco Superior Court judge upheld the older circuit's controversial option clause.

As a result, Barry, who led the NBA in scoring last season with 2,775 points, must either play out his option with the Warriors or sit at home.

His chances of playing with the Warriors seem slim since his presence on the team as a "lame duck" would create an awkward and embarrassing situation. Also, if he decides to come back, the possibility exists that the Warriors would trade him. But under the circumstances, which NBA club would want him—for just one year?

Thus it seems apparent that he will stay at home in Oakland and serve the Oaks in a promotional capacity. Because of the court ruling his three-year $75,000 per-year contract with the Oaks, which he signed last June 20, now is put off until Oct. 1, 1968.

Barry always could appeal Judge Robert J. Drewes' decision—actually a temporary injunction restraining him from playing for anyone else except the Warriors—but the appeal process is slow and the 1967-68 season would be nearly over by the time his case got on a court calendar.

Judge Drewes, in upholding the contract, said Barry was fully aware of the option clause in his NBA pact when he signed with the Warriors.

"There can be no doubt," said Drewes, "that defendant (Barry) deliberately breached his solemn contractural obligation to play for the plaintiff (Warriors), and the court so finds."

The decision had far reaching consequences since it in effect upheld the legality of pro football and pro hockey option clauses as well. Warrior owner Franklin Mieuli and one of his attorneys, Richard Archer, saw it that way anyway.

"This is an historic day for all of us (club owners) in sports," said Mieuli.

"This was a decision that had to be made one way or the other," said Archer. "Naturally, I'm glad it went the way it did."

Barry, at his parents' home in Roselle Park, N.J., said he was undecided at the moment about what he would do, although Bruce Hale, his father-in-law and head coach-general manager of the Oakland Oaks, said there would be no appeal of Judge Drewes' decision.

"I'll have to play with San Francisco or sit it out," said Barry, "but I just don't know what I'll do."

Schoendienst Praised By Retired Ump Conlan

PHILADELPHIA—Nice guys are not supposed to win. But until the last two days, Red Schoendienst has been winning big. His Cardinals were supposed to start skidding after their ace Bob Gibson was put out of action by a line drive off Roberto Clemente's bat.

WITHOUT GIBSON, THE Cardinals faced the Cubs, Braves and Reds in back-to-back series and beat all of them soundly. They now have opened such a gap in the 1967 National League pennant race that it no longer looks like a race.

For the good of the league — that means attendance — everyone outside of St. Louis is pulling now for the Giants to slow down the Cardinal runaway this weekend in Busch Stadium. It's a selfish kind of rooting devoid of any affection for the Giants or animosity towards the redheaded manager of the Cardinals.

Jocko Rooting For Redhead

Indeed, Schoendienst is held in the highest regard in baseball circles. Jocko Conlan perhaps summed up best the universal feeling about Schoendienst. "He is one of the nicest men I ever met in baseball," said the retired umpire. "One of the game's true gentlemen. When I was active I never was a rooter. That was something an umpire never can do. But being retired now, I don't mind telling you I'm rooting for the redhead."

SCHOENDIENST, 44, is the pride of Germantown, Ill. In 1942 he attended a tryout with the Cardinals in Sportman's Park, more to gain free admission to that night's game with the Dodgers than with any hope of being signed by the Cardinals. But he was signed to a minor league contract and thus began a remarkable baseball career.

Turned Into Fine Switch Hitter

IN HIS FIRST MAJOR league season of 1945 he played left field but the following year after Lou Klein, regular Cardinal second baseman, jumped to Mexico, Schoendienst took over that position. With the redhead as their second baseman, the Cardinals won the pennant in 1946 and the World Series from the Boston Red Sox.

In 1956 Frank Lane, then Cardinal general manager, traded Schoendienst to the Giants. Red was with the Giants only one year before being sent to the Braves in 1957. The Braves promptly went on to win the pennant and repeated in 1958 although Schoendienst was plagued with injuries that year.

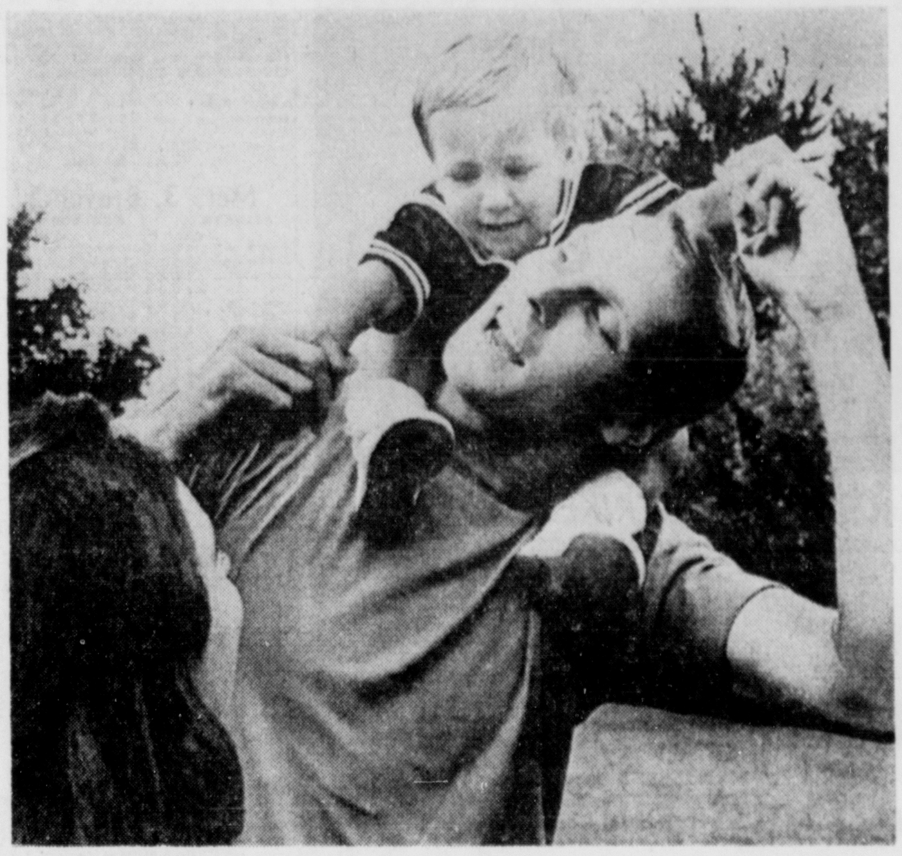
Returns To Cardinals As Boss

At the end of the '58 season, routine X-rays revealed Schoendienst had tuberculosis. Part of his right lung was removed. He returned to play for the Braves in 1960. At the end of that season he was given his unconditional release.

THE CARDINALS SIGNED him in 1961 as a pinch-hitter. In mid-season he was made a coach. When Johnny Keane resigned as manager after winning the 1964 pennant and World Series from the Yankees, Schoendienst was named his successor.

Now, in his third year as Cardinal manager, the redhead may be enroute to his first pennant as a field bosss. And with the team that was his team right from the beginning when he reported for a tryout a quarter of a century ago.

Jim Gilmartin is on vacation



THE HOME FRONT—Big Rick and little Rick romp at a friend's home in Clark, N.J., while Mrs. Rick watches. While the Barrys romped, a San Francisco Superior Court judge had ruled for the San Francisco Warriors in their suit against Rick Barry, declaring the NBA option clause legal and shaking the flimsy foundation of the fledgling ABA. Novato Team Wins

I-J Special Report

SALINAS — Three down, two to go.

The Novato Babe Ruth 13-14-year-olds need only win two more games to capture the state 13-14 Babe Ruth Title here.

They chopped down highly regarded San Leandro yesterday, 11-1, on a road-runner game of 11 stolen bases and 12 hits.

They meet San Carlos, the only other undefeated team in the double-elimination tourney, this afternoon at 5 o'clock in a bid for a spot in the finals.

Dave Judnik was the superstar yesterday. He hurled a four-hitter, struck out 11 batters, including the last nine of the game, garnered three hits, including a triple, scored three runs and drove in two more.

Novato scored six runs in the first two innings and was never in trouble.

Sharp Control By Pappas In Shutout Over Astros

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milt Pappas, who burns up when he walks a batter, was the mildest mannered of men last night.

"I hate to walk guys," said the veteran right-hander. "It really burns me up."

Just minutes before Pappas had fired Cincinnati over Houston 5-0 with a smoking fastball and effective change-up. He walked none, yielded just two hits and struck out nine.

Pappas, who retired 16 straight men before hitting Joe Morgan with a pitch in the seventh, gave up singles to Jim Wynn in the first and Julio Gotay in the ninth.

In other National League action, Los Angeles beat first-place St. Louis 6-2, Philadelphia edged San Francisco 5-4 in 10 innings, New York nipped Atlanta 3-2 in 11 innings and Chicago topped Pittsburgh 8-4 in a day game.

A.L. SCORES

Detroit beat Chicago 2-1 in 10 innings before losing to the White Sox 6-4 in 10 innings, Cleveland took Baltimore 5-3, Minnesota edged Washington 3-2, New York blanked California 1-0 and Kansas City split with Boston, winning 5-3 before losing 7-5, in American League games.

He won 12-11 in 1966, his first season with the Reds since being acquired from Baltimore in a deal that sent Frank Robinson to the Orioles—a deal that didn't make Cincinnati fans feel real good.

Cincinnati, snapping a three-game losing streak, scored a run in the third on three singles and then clinched it with three more in the fifth, two coming on Lee May's double and another on Tony Perez' single. Perez slammed his 20th homer in the seventh.

Los Angeles tied St. Louis 2-2 in the third and then clinched its second straight victory over the Cardinals with three runs in the fifth on pitcher Don Sutton's RBI sacrifice bunt and Ron Hunt's two-run double.

Ron Fairly homered for one Los Angeles run in the third. Lou Brock extended his hitting steak to 15 games by singling in the first when the Cardinals scored both their runs.

TIED IN NINTH

New York, held to just one hit over seven innings by Denny Lemaster, tied Atlanta 2-2 in the ninth and then won on Bob Johnson's first-pitch homer off Jay Ritchie in the 11th.

Johnson also singled in the ninth when the Mets broke through against Cecil Upshaw, who relieved Lemaster in the eighth and got out of a bases-loaded jam. The runs came on Ed Kranepool's double and Ed Charles' single.

Ernie Banks two-run double and Ron Santo's two-run homer, his 24th, sparked Chicago past Pittsburgh as the Cubs snapped a seven-game losing streak and moved back into second place.

Randy Hundley's solo homer in the second put the Cubs ahead to stay, 3-2, en route to their 60th victory, one more than they won all last season.

It's Raiders, Blanda Vs. The Oilers

SANTA ROSA (AP) — One of the most venerable players in football will be playing against his old teammates when the Oakland Raiders clash with the Houston Oilers in an exhibition game Saturday night.

Blanda will alternate with Oakland starting signal-caller Daryle Lamonica, who was a standout against the San Diego Chargers last Saturday.

Meantime, the Raiders traded veteran guard George Flint to the Oilers.

Details were not released, but a guess was that the Raiders owed Houston a player for the right to claim Blanda on waivers.

Raider coacn John Rauch said, "We had a prior commitment on a trade I'd rather not go into. I hated to lose George: he's a fine ball player."

Golf Putt Winners

Mrs. Al Newman and Mrs. R. F. Honey won the San Geronimo Women's Golf Club's fewest putts contest yesterday with 32 each. Mrs. William Blair topped medal play with 103-25-78, followed by Mrs. Albert Kaponat, 109-30-79.

Mrs Brodie Wins Golfing Honors

Mrs. Arthur Brodie won ace of the month honors for the Oakview Rovers Women's Golf Club.

In yesterday's Tin Whistle tourney at Oakmont Country Club, Mrs. John Devaney was tops with 31 points, followed by Mrs. Bert Zahner and Mrs. Robert Greene with 29 points.

Little Leaguers Win Tournament

Novato American nicked San Rafael American, 2-1, to capture the Hamilton Air Force Base Invitational Major Little League Tournament Monday.

49ers At Full Strength For Kezar Game Sunday

MORAGA (AP) — Hard running John David Crow and defensive tackle Charlie Krueger will be fit for action with the San Francisco 49ers in their exhibition opener Sunday against the Cleveland Browns at Kezar Stadium.

Crow had knee surgery in the off - season but he will be ready to run against the Browns. Crow reported some tenderness in early training workouts.

Krueger, picked as defensive captain by coach Jack Christiansen, fractured a finger in early drills but will see action Sunday.

Four key players who have been doing military instead of football drilling will suit up for the Browns game and likely will see some playing time. They are fullback Gary Lewis, end Dick Witcher, and defensive backs Kermit Alexander and Jim Johnson.

Basketball Team Wins First Game

M c Gillicuddy Construction, alias Novato, won its first game in the high school division of the Drake Summer Basketball League, nicking the Bulldogs (San Rafael), 42-39, last night.

Gene Barnes scored 23 points to pace the victory. Gary Welch had 11 points for the losers.

New Pisa (Poly) ripped the Indians, (Tamalpais) 73-30. Ron Small had nine points for the losers. The Pirates (Drake) topped John Swett, 47-44, as Clark Jamison scored 12 points.

McDaniel Will Try To Stop The Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) Relief specialist Lindy McDaniel gets the call as a starter for the San Francisco Giants tonight against the streaking Philadelphia Phils.

The Phils beat the Giants 5-4 in 10 innings last night for their eighth straight win, the club's longest victory string in four years.

Manager Herman Franks made McDaniel (1-4) his pitching choice against John Boozer (4-1) after Lindy hurled three perfect innings in Monday night's 8-0 blanking by the Phils. The game will start at 5 p.m., PDT.

Juan Marichal is missing pitching turns because of a pulled thigh muscle. He threw in batting practice Monday, but couldn't cut loose with any hard throwing.

4-0 LEAD

The Giants staked starter Ray Sadecki to a 4-0 fourth inning lead. Dick Dietz clouted a three-run homer in the fourth after singles by Jim Hart and Jack Hiatt off Phil starter Dick Ellsworth.

Hal Lanier, hitting in his sixth straight game, singled home the first Giant run in the second after singles by Hart and Hiatt.

The Phils bounced back with two runs in their fourth on singles by Tony Gonzalez and Richie Allen combined with a wild pitch and Bill White's sacrifice fly.

They tied it in the sixth on back to back doubles by Allen and Gene Oliver and a single by White.

BIG SINGLE

Frank Linzy relieved Sadecki in the sixth and dueled with Phil reliever Dick Farrell until Johnny Callison poked a two — out single driving in Johnny Briggs with the winning run in the 10th.

Briggs led off with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice. Allen was walked purposely and the runners advanced on an infield out before Callison settled the issue.

Linzy reached first on an error in the Giants ninth and advanced to third on a sacrifice and an infield out. Farrell (8-4) struck out Willie Mays.

Again in the 10th the Giants missed a chance to win as they put runners on first and second with one out. Farrell escaped when Lanier lined into a double play.

Palmer And Nicklaus To Defend Golf Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the season's leading money winner, and Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Open champion, will defend their team title for the United States in the 1967 World Cup and International Trophy Golf Matches Nov. 9-12 at the Club de Golf in Mexico City.

The announcement was made today by the International Golf Association, sponsor of the 15-year-old tournament which formerly went under the name of Canada Cup.

Palmer and Nicklaus won the team trophy in Paris in 1963, Hawaii in 1964 and in Tokyo last year. Nicklaus was individual winner in 1963 and 1964.

This will mark the sixth appearance of Palmer, who teamed with Sam Snead in Ireland in 1960 and Buenos Aires in 1962 for triumphs prior to his successes with Nicklaus.

The American pair was chosen by the Mexican committee, which had been given the names of the six leading players on the U.S. Professional Golfers Association tour.

Redskins, Bears Game On Television

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A sellout crowd of around 45,000 is expected for the 8:30 p.m., EDT, kickoff in Washington, D.C. Stadium. The action will be televised over the CBS network. (It will be a delayed telecast to the Bay Area, starting at 8:30 p.m., PDT).

The Bears are favored to repeat their 24-10 exhibition victory of last year over the 'Skins. Gale Sayers, the Bears' star runner, and Redskin Charley Taylor, the leading receiver in the NFL a year ago, are expected to provide an interesting contrast.

In a surprise move last night, the Redskins traded second string quarterback Dick Shiner to the Cleveland Browns for veteran QB Jim Ninowski.

Otto Graham, Washington coach and general manager, said he made the trade because he wanted an experienced man behind Sonny Jurgensen, his No. 1 quarterback.

Shiner will report to the Browns immediately, but Ninowski was given permission not to report to the Redskins until Sunday.

On Sunday Cleveland is at San Francisco while Baltimore is at Boston in an NFL-AFL interleague contest.

BOATING

Night Boating Requires Extra Bit Of Knowledge

By STAN DAVIES

Boating at night can be very exciting (things are so calm and quiet after a hectic day), yet many small boaters resist taking boats out after dark. I think perhaps it's because night boating requires just a little bit of extra know-how and a better understanding of the rules and regulations.

The law says that all motorboats and sailboats must carry navigation lights from sunset to sunrise. They are not a daytime requirement, but failure to have lights at night could bring a $500 fine.

Most boaters know . . . some rather vaguely . . . that navigation lights consist of a red light on the port side (left) and a green light on the starboard side (right). But this is not enough. To understand navigation lights thoroughly, every boater should get a copy of the "Coast Guard Recreational Boating Guide." It's booklet CG-340 and sells for 45 cents from the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

The fact that lights and night navigation concerns many boaters is indicated by some of the questions they ask:

Q. Isn't there a new rule about sailboat lights?

A. Yes. It became effective about a year ago with the revision in International Rules of the Road. Sailboats, over 40 feet, may now (it's optional) display a red over green light at the masthead as well as the red and green side lights. It's explained in the Coast Guard booklet.

Q. Can I use a searchlight on my boat?

A. Yes, as long as it is not shone on another boat so as to interfere with the vision of the operator of that boat.

Q. What lights does a canoe require at night?

A. Canoes and rowboats (unpowered craft) do not require navigation lights, but a white light must be shown if there is danger of a collision. A flashlight will do . . . and no one would go out without a flashlight . . . or would they?

Q. Can I turn off all lights while at anchor?

A. Yes, if your boat is under 65 feet long and is in a recognized, anchorage area. But if it is anchored in a navigable waterway, it must show a white light visible all around the horizon (360 degrees) bright enough to be visible for two miles if in international waters or western rivers (Mississippi waters) but only for a mile on inland waters or the Great Lakes.

Q. Can you water ski at night if you carry a flashlight?

A. Water skiing is banned by law in practically all states from one hour after sunset to sunrise, even if you're lit up like a Christmas tree. Check your state boating law.

Q. I'm told that fishing at night without a light is illegal. It it?

A. You can fish all night in total darkness if you like. But the moment another boat approaches and there is danger of a collision, the law requires you to show a white light, such as a flashlight.

Q. What's the basic reasoning behind the red and green navigation light system?

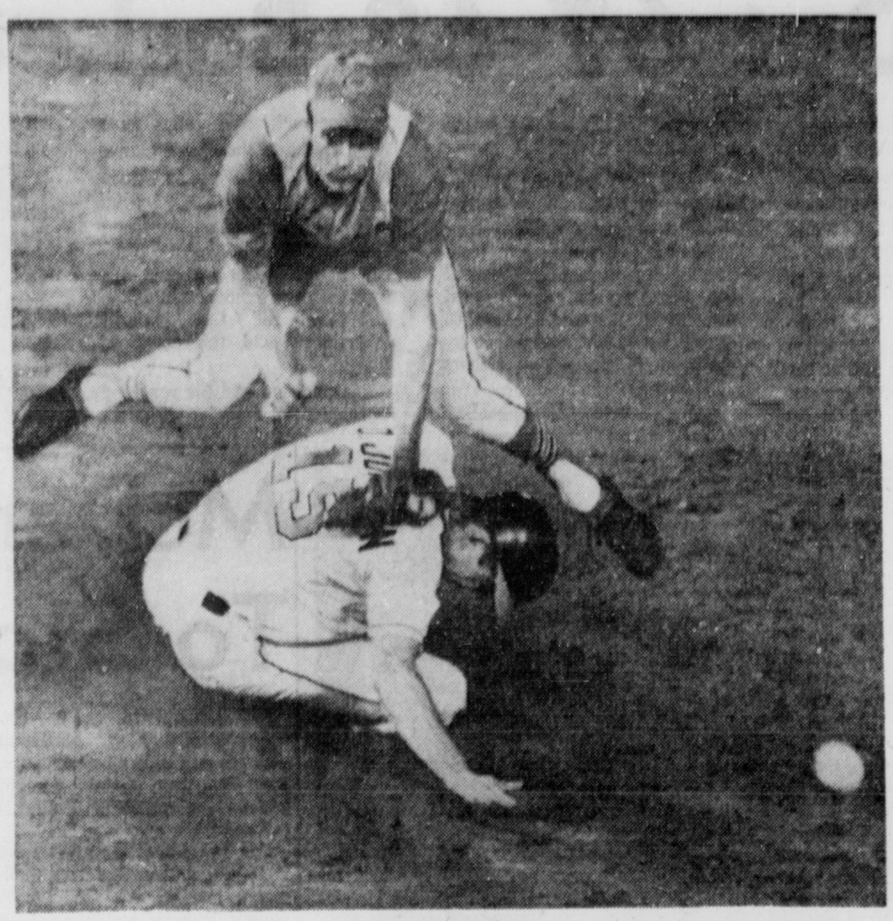
S. Simply this. If you can see another boat's green light, it's a "go" signal, you have the right of way. But if you see only his red light . . . this means he's approaching from your right and the Rules of the Road give him right of way . . . it's a stop signal for you. If you can see only his stern white light, it means you are overtaking him and it's a warning to keep out of his way.

Q. Do ocean liners follow the same rules for navigation lights?

A. Basically, yes. But there's much more to it and if you plan to operate in the company of big mercantile ships, dredges, barges, tug boats or pilot boats, you had better get a good textbook. They all carry different identifying lights.

Q. The channel into my dock is hard to see at night. Any suggestions?

A. Most hardware stores sell a fluorescent reflective tape (kids put it on their bicycles). Put strips of it on stakes to mark your channel. Put some on corners of docks and other points to be marked. The tape glows in the beam of a flashlight and everything falls into place.



THE LEAPFROG STRIKES

Baltimore Oriole Dave Johnson just couldn't dissuade Cleveland second baseman Vern Fuller from a double play despite a wild slide. Fuller leapfrogged over Johnson and threw to first baseman Tony Horton for the twin kill in yesterday's game at Baltimore, won by the Indians, 5-3. (AP Wirephoto)

LaRusso Will Join Warriors

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rudy La Russo, seven-year member of the Los Angeles Lakers, is coming out of retirement to play for the San Francisco Warriors, the Herald-Examiner said yesterday.

La Russo, 29, a 6-foot-7 forward, retired last January rather than complete a three-team deal which would have sent him to the Detroit Pistons.

The Herald - Examiner said Warriors' owner Franklin Mieuli purchased rights to La Russo from Detroit, then persuaded him to end his retirement.

The story quoted La Russo as saying of the negotiations: "The original idea was to price myself out of the market. It's absurd. They met my price."

The paper said La Russo was flying to San Francisco for a news conference on the subject.

U.S. Trackmen Vie Against Europeans

This was the theme of the all-conquering United States track and field team today when it joined forces with other Western Hemisphere countries for a two-night meet against the best athletes of Europe.

Although the competition is billed as "Europe vs. the Americas," the U.S. team is so dominated by Yank athletes that four individual events were added to the program to give the Canadians a chance to compete.

For the Yanks, this first meet of its kind is considered a serious test of their expected strength in the 1968 Olympic Games at Mexico City.

Five world record-holders, two for America and three for Europe, stand out among the competitors. For the Americans, it is shotputter Randy Matson of Texas A&M and broadjumper Ralph Boston of Nashville, Tenn., and representing the Europeans are discus thrower Ludvik Danek of Czechoslovakia, hammer thrower Gyula Zsivotzky of Hungary and 3,000-meter steeplechase champion Gaston Roelants of Belgium.

Roelants will be tested in one of the final events on the calendar tomorrow night by Chris McCubbins of Enid, Okla., and Con Nightingale of Burton, Kan., who finished one-two in the 3,000 meter steeplechase in last week's Pan-American Games at Winnipeg.

Harry Jerome of Canada, the world record-holder and Pan-Am champ at 100 meters, will not be here because the organizers refused to pay his fare from Winnipeg to his home in Vancouver and back to Montreal.

Another notable absentee is Jim Ryun of the University of Kansas, the fastest miler in history, who claims he is burdened by too heavy a schedule.

Clippers Blank Phantoms

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Goalie Mirko Stojanovic recorded his 10th shutout of the season last night as the Oakland Clippers defeated the Pittsburgh Phantoms 2-0 in a National Professional Soccer League match before 6,273 fans.

The win clinched the Western Division championship for the Clippers, who are now 17-5-5, with 166 points, 41 ahead of second place St. Louis.

It was the seventh loss in eight games for the Phantoms (8-14-7), who have hit bottom in the Eastern Division.

There were no other games scheduled.

Angels Ship Schaal, Get Southpaw Hurler

ANAHEIM (AP) — The California Angels shipped third baseman Paul Schaal to El Paso of the Texas League on 24-hour recall today. Schaal's departure makes room on the American League team's roster for left-handed pitcher Jim Weaver, who was purchased Monday from Oklahoma City of the Pacific Coast League.

Six Marin Juniors In Norcal Tourney

Defending champion Ray Leach of Novato will tee off Monday at Lake Merced Golf and Country Club, Daly City, in an effort to win a second straight Northern California Golf Association junior championship.

Don Hawken of San Rafael, the 1965 champion, and 1966 runner-up Bob Eberle of Hanford will also be among the 128 contestants for the title.

Four other Marin players besides Leach and Hawken will compete in the tourney. They are Arthur Senter and Kevin Hogan of Mill Valley and Michael Ahern and Rich Lesieur of Novato.

The players will qualify Monday for the flights in which match play will begin Tuesday. The top 32 will play in the championship flight and the other flights will have 16 each.

Senter will tee off in the first foursome at 8 a.m. Monday. Leach will start at 9:12, Hawken at 9:20, Hogan at 10:32, Ahern at 12:16 and Lesieur at 12:24 p.m.

Leach and Hawken will not begin match play with the others Tuesday, because they will be playing 36 holes at the San Francisco Golf Club hoping to qualify for the National Amateur Tourney.

Junior tournament officials have agreed to delay their opening matches to Wednesday, which of course will mean two matches that day for Leach and Hawken or their opponents.

Leach will tee off Tuesday at 7:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m., Hawken at 7:56 and 12:56. Other Marin entrants in the amateur qualifying are Kai G. Thompsen, Novato, 7:50 and 12:50; Buzz Beattie, Fairfax, 8:23 and 1:23, and Chet Patterson, Fairfax, 9:47 and 2:47.

HOW TO PLAY

Also Learn How To Adapt The Modern Player Must

It was easy to be a good player in the old days because your opponents were weak.

If your opponents were sober citizens the opening lead was always fourth highest from the player's longest and strongest suit. Today's hand would have been a cinch.

OLD DAYS

The modern defender has learned that it seldom pays to lead declarer's bid strength.

A thoughtless declarer would win the first trick with the king of clubs after dummy's eight had been covered by East's nine. the king of diamonds to lead his other club, and East would collect 200 points by running the rest of the clubs.

READS LEAD

South should see that the seven of clubs cannot be fourth-best since then West would have the A-J-9 of clubs and East would be unable to play the nine of clubs at the first trick.

West's lead is surely the top of a short suit, and South should refuse the first trick to protect himself against a doubleton club in the West hand.

This simple play saves the hand. East can take the ace of clubs then or later, but he cannot run the suit.

South has time to go after the diamonds and will make his contract even against the fancy modern defense.

♠ J 9 5 2

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

This weak hand is worth only one unforced response, and the raise of partner's major suit should take precedence over any other response.

Need Rich Soil

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI)—A Penn State University vegetable specialist reminds that such vine crops as cucumbers, squash, pumpkins and muskmelons do best on a rich loam soil containing plenty of organic matter. James O. Dutt says vine crops also need plenty of fertilizer and insect control. If irrigation is needed, supply during the day.

Stocks Close Higher In Heavy Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed higher today in active trading as the Dow Jones industrial average approached another high for the year.

Substantial gains were made by General Motors, International Nickel, Eastman Kodak and Jones-Manville.

Xerox had a bad sinking spell. Other high-priced glamor stocks, IBM among them, were weak.

Allis-Chalmers, off 1⅛ at 32¾; Chicago & North Western, up 4 at 115½; Essex Wire, up 1⅜ at 48⅞; American Motors, up ¼ at 14⅛; Control Data, up 4⅞ at 123½, and American Standard, off ⅛ at 29⅜.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Don't Move From One Speculation To Another

Q. "I am 73. I own Homestake Mining which cost 48½. Would you sell and put the money in Thiokol for dividends and growth?" E.S.

A. There is a school of thought—to which I do not subscribe—that gold mining shares such as Homestake are a good speculation on a possible rise in the price of metal. Any such rise would have to be initiated by our government, and would be a major benefit to France and Russia—who are not two of our best friends. There is some attraction to the stock from its uranium operations, but in my opinion the multiple is too high and the yield too low on the recently reduced dividend.

If I were in your situation, I would sell Homestake but I would not put the proceeds into Thiokol which is also a low-yield speculation. Instead, in your position I advice International Harvester—a strongly established situation yielding a well-secured 4½ per cent with plenty of room on the upside, in my opinion.

Q. "I am 18 and plan to attend college next year. I have accumulated some money and would like to try my luck in the stock market. If I do so, I would want to sell out in about six months. I have no experience and would appreciate your help." T.P.

A. I am always pleased to help a young man in his initial investment. I feel very strongly, however, that no one should buy stock when there is a relatively short time limit on the period of holding. Stocks are all subject to fluctuation and in my experience investment with a time limit usually works to the disadvantage of the buyer. It is for this reason alone that I discourage untrained investors from buying puts and calls. Your money should be in a savings institution, where there is no risk and where the principal will be intact six months hence.

Arizona Crash Victim Reported Still Critical

W. Barnaby Ferguson, 17, of 100 South Street, Apt. 207, remained in critical condition today at Page Hospital, Page, Ariz., following an auto accident Sunday in which his friend, Joseph V. Lutomski, 33, also of Sausalito, was killed. Ferguson is being treated for a fractured skull.

The car, driven by Lutomski, went off the highway near Glen Canyon National Recreation Area in Arizona.

Ferguson, a senior at Tamalpais High School, lives with his mother, Mrs. Ruth Ferguson. He and Lutomski were vacationing, having visited the Grand Canyon. They were en route to Bryce Canyon when the accident occurred.

Funeral for Lutomski will be held tomorrow in Detroit. Burial will also be in Detroit.

Born in Detroit, Lutomski came to Marin County in 1963. He lived in Mill Valley one year, then moved to Sausalito.

Lutomski was a senior student at Golden Gate Law School and was a graduate of the New School for Social Research, New York City. He was a Sierra Club member.

Single, he is survived by his father, Joseph V. Lutomski of Detroit and his mother, Mrs. Sonia Lutomski of Beverly Hills.

White Policemen Free On Bond In Negro Slayings

DETROIT (AP) — Two white Detroit police officers charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of two Negro youths in a motel during last month's racial turmoil were free on $5,000 bond each.

Recorder's Judge Donald S. Leonard also set $5,000 bonds yesterday for two Negro youths charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of a Detroit policeman during the riot.

Patrolman Ronald W. August, 28, is accused of the shotgun slaying of Aubrey Pollard, 19, of Detroit. Patrolman Robert N. Paille, 32, is charged with the slaying of Fred Temple, 18, also of Detroit.

Pollard and Temple and a third youth, Carl Cooper 17, of Detroit, were found shot to death in the motel July 26. No warrants have been issued in the Cooper killing.

Danny Royster, 20, and Charles L. Latimer, 19, both of Detroit, accused of slaying Patrolman Jerome Olshove, were unable to meet bond and remained in custody.

Plea Set Today On Check Charges

Allen Dow Jordan is accused of giving Annex Motors in San Rafael a bad check for $2,787 for a car on July 18. San Rafael police arrested him Monday.

San Anselmo's Tax Rate Set At $2.06 Again

San Anselmo City Council last night fixed its tax rate for fiscal 1967-68 at $2.06 per $100 of assessed valuation, the same rate as the previous year.

The council acted after being told by City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel that the county auditor had put the city's secured assessment roll at $26,013,140, about $50,000 more than had been estimated by Kaeppel when the new $1,214,652 budget was adopted June 27.

The council allocated $1.344 for the general fund, 16.24 cents to the library fund, 8.8 cents to parks, 9.67 cents to recreation, 26.03 cents to the retirement fund, 10.33 cents to capital improvements and .53 cents to storm drains funding.

Kaeppel told the council that the city could expect between $10.00 and $11,000 in additional tax money this fiscal year as the city's share of the state's three-cent increase in the cigarette tax.

Much of the business on last night's agenda was postponed, because Public Works Director Charls R. Leitzel was absent on account of illness, and the council felt his presence was necessary to some decisions.

LOT SIZES — Postponed to Aug. 22, revision of the zoning ordinance to increase lot sizes from a minimum of 5,000 to 7,500 square feet.

TREE PROTECTION — Postponed to Aug. 22, decision on necessity for added landscaping to safeguard trees in islands created by widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulebard.

SIDEWALK POLICY — Postponed to Aug. 22, consideration of a policy regulating the filling of the area between a sidewalk and curb by private property owners.

UNDERGROUNDING — Postponed to Aug. 22, a public hearing on undergrounding utilities on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between Greenfield Avenue and Bank Street, when the council learned that expected open ditch work would not be required on that block for the widening of the boulevard.

The San Anselmo City Council

Also:

REZONING — Rezoned the non-conforming residence of Mrs. Inga Esposito at 8 Buena Vista Avenue from commercial to multiple residential.

MORTON LANE — Rejected a request by residents that the council rescind its order to establish a no-stopping zone on Morton Lane.

PUBLIC NUISANCE — Noted that residents of 18 and 20 Fern Land had failed to meet the Aug. 1, deadline for removal of material dumped in San Anselmo Creek and declared the condition a public nuisance.

TWO-HOUR PARKING — Passed an ordinance, effective immediately, increasing the downtown parking limit from one hour to two and ordering it to remain in effect until reviewed next June.

SEMINARY PROPERTY — Passed an ordinance rezoning San Anselmo Theological Seminary property at 99 Woodland Avenue and at 103 Ross Avenue from single-family to multiple dwelling and approved introdution of an ordinance Aug. 22 for similar rezoning of seminary property at 111-117 Ross Avenue and 118 Mariposa Avenue.

VIETNAM-SUMMER — Denied a request of Vietnam-Summer Marin for use of city hall for a public meeting on the new draft law on the gounds that the city hall was available for events related to matters of municipal concern and that this did not appear to be so related.

WARRANTS — Authorized payment of $83,109 in warrants, and $22,528 to Ghilotti Brother for work done in July on the widening of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

TRANSFER — Approved transfer of Patrolman Kenneth Marshall from the police department to the fire department at the same rate of pay in October, after the retirement of Fire Capt. John Bell.

Three Die, Three Missing In Blast

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Fire control squads prowled today through the gigantic Cities Service Oil Co. refinery struck by fiery blasts which killed three men and wreaked damage in the millions. Three other men were missing and presumed dead.

The firefighters allowed flames to burn through the night rather than risk allowing collection of explosive gases which could be touched off by a spark.

Car Recovered

Sausalito police reported today that a Triumph TR-3 roadster owned by Bonnie Flatau of Mountain View and reported stolen Sunday from the 300 block of Pine Street, Sausalito, has been recovered in Dublin by the Alameda County sheriff's office.

Council Accepts Offer For Sorich Park Fund

The strings were on one offer of $100 provided the city put up a like amount and on two offers of $100 each provided the city match them on a two-for-one basis. The balance of $75 consisted of numerous gifts of $1, $5, or $10 from San Anselmans.

Thomas J. Peacock, appointed by the council some time ago to head a committee in support of the park project, told the councilmen, that if they would put up the necessary $500, the city would get $300 "and make a 65 per cent profit." If the city declined, Peacock said, all it would get was the freely offered $75.

City Administrator-Controller Alfred C. Kaeppel suggested the council wait, because William F. Kapranos, San Rafael landscape architect, was scheduled to report to the council Aug. 22 on a proposal to joint the county and the City of San Rafael in merging Sorich Ranch into a 300-acre regional Park.

Peacock said establishing the fund would stimulate public interest in getting the park open on a minimal basis, perhaps by next spring.

The council instructed Kaeppel to set up the fund, using $350 of uncommitted park money and crediting the fund with $150 already contributed to scheduled demolition of old buildings at the park. Councilmen served notice that this action did not commit the city to matching future contributions by citizens.

Shot Victim Fair

Melvin White, 17, of 41 Cole Drive Marin City, who was shot in the left hip by sheriff's deputies July 28 after reportedly firing several shots at a passing patrol car, was reported remaining in fair condition at Marine General Hospital today.

Fighting Case Plea Date Set

James Lewis Green, 47, is to plead in Marin Municipal Court at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 31 to charges of battery on a police officer and obstructing him in his duties. He was arraigned yesterday.

Green, of 2300 Vista Del Mar, Tiburon, allegedly struggled with Sheriff's Deputy John O. Goff when Goff attempted to arrest him July 30 for a traffic violation.

Valley Sanitary Budget On Tap

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board will consider a tentative district budget for fiscal 1968 totaling $145,790 today at 8 p.m. at the district office in San Anselmo.

The proposed budget is down $3,315 from last year's total of $149,105, but District Mgr. Ralph C. Noah said the proposed budget includes no capital improvements, and capital expenditures could be considered and added tonight.

Last year's tax rate was 11 cents per $100 assessed valuation, and Noah said he expects the rate to remain the same this year. Property tax revenue totaled $98,024 last year, and he estimated that an 11 cent tax rate would produce $105,000 in taxes this year.

Kidnap Suspect Gets Court Date

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John W. Irwin, whose conviction in the 1963 kidnaping of Frank Sinatra Jr. was overturned last May, is to appear in U.S. District Court Monday for the setting of a retrial date.

Irwin, 45, was freed yesterday from federal prison by U.S. District Judge William F. Gray, who ordered Irwin's appearance.

Irwin, sentenced in 1964 to a 16-year prison term, was not required to put up bond but he and his wife, Lupe, must sign an agreement to be liable for a $50,000 surety bond if he violates the terms of his release.

Gas Chamber Set In Police Slaying

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A man convicted of killing a policeman 13 years ago was sentenced today to die in San Quentin's gas chamber.

The Superior Court jury deliberated more than 10 hours before returning the death sentence early this morning for Liskie Terrence Mabry, 54.

He had been found guilty of shooting Francis M. Rea, a North Sacramento policeman, while commiting a burglary on Jan. 2, 1954.

Tiburon Zoning Ordinance Discussed, No Action Yet

The discussion was adjourned at midnight to Friday at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

The commission also heard a presentation by David Van Pelt on a development of homes and town houses planned for 450 acres on the peninsula, but outside the city limits, Development Administrator Phil V. Scott reported.

No application was before the commission for action last night. The land, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Deffebach Jr., lies on the ridge between Corte Madera and Tiburon, according to Scott.

Commissioners received the downtown plan back from the council and said they would study it again for revision, Scott reported.

$143,000 For Marin Airport Is Allocated

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Board of Aeronautics yesterday approved the allocation of $143,000 for the Marin County Airport at Novato.

The application for the Novato Airport was one of 26 approved by the board. There had been applications from 38 airport districts.

Clyde P. Barnett, chief of the Division of Aeronautics, said the allocations up to a maximum of $150,000 come from a two cents per gallon tax on airplane fuel. The airport improvements fund is limited to use by general aviation as airlines and crop dusters are exempt from the tax.

Supervisors Keep Ban On Canal Boathouses

The board decided after a lengthy hearing that most of the boat-owning residents there opposed berths. The action upheld a May 14 ordinance blocking further dock construction.

About 25 residents appeared at yesterday's hearing, which was asked by Supervisors John F. McInnis on the request of residents who favored berths but could not appear at the May 14 hearing.

Most speakers objected to the berths as unattractive yesterday. In addition, 32 postcards opposing the structures were receive by the supervisors, with none written in favor.

Ronald W. Shafer of 73 Vendola Drive, chairman of the advisory committee to the Gallinas Canal County Service Area board, led opposition to the berths by showing slides which he said depicted their unsightliness. Berths "ruin community property values," he asserted.

Robert Moore of 215 Mark Twain Avenue woundered how berth design would be controlled, while Mrs. Richard D. Hardin of 205 Mark Twain Avenue objected that future visitors to the Marin County Civic Center via the canal would have to look at "ticky-tacky little boat houses."

Among those favoring docks was Richard G. McDonald of 131 Vendola Drive, who was permitted to complete one under construction at the time the ordinance was adopted. He contended a dock designed properly would not mar scenery.

Robert Hansen of 809 Vendola Drive said he needed a berth to protect his wooden boat from 90-degree temperatures, and argued residents had the right to decide themselves whether they wanted a covered dock.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

SOLICITING — Set an Aug. 29 hearing on a request by Chairman Thomas T. Storer to ban door-to-door sales in the unincorporated area after 6 p.m.

RATES — Increased from $5,399 to $5,424 the monthly charge to the City of Tiburon for police and maintenance services.

CHANGE — Amended the San Geronimo Valley master plan changing road locations near a school site, with Kettenhofen urging placement of an emergency road near the school, which is situated on a dead-end street.

AUCTION — Heeded Kettenhofen's request for a list of the approximate market value of county trucks and other equipment to be auctioned, in order to determine whether prices brought are adequate.

RECREATION — Set 10 a.m. Sept. 12 for a hearing on a request by the Homestead Valley joint committee for recreation for a loan of $2,500 for park and senior citizen recreation funds, until a county service area can be established.

SERVICE — Set Oct. 3 for a hearing on plans for a county service area in unincorporated portions of the counuty for police protection.

Fireworks Provide Grist For Attorneys
